Bishop to Seminarians:

Live What You Believe

To know God's will is important. Help, Rochester; David T. Hackett (St. John The Evangelist, Greece); Bernard C. Hartman (St. Pius The Tenth, Rochester); Peter G. Helfrich (St. John The Evangelist, Spencerport); Michael J. Hogan, Jr. (Blessed Sacrament, Rochester); George R. Isgrig (Our Lady of Good Counsel, Rochester); Lewis J. This was the core of Bishop Sheen's graduation address to 33 seminarians who were completing their 4-year high school course at St. Andrew's Seminary last week (June 22).

Christ's message, the Bishop told the young aspirants for the priesthood is "if you do my will, you will know my doctrine."

Intellectual perception of the faith is indeed necessary, the Rochester prelate said, but in the long run it is Christian conduct and behavior that counts.

The bishop contrasted the careers of two brilliant Englishmen—of the 18th century. Both wrote well of Catholic doctrine, he pointed out, but their lives turned out quite differently.

One became a canonized saint—John Fisher, martyred bishop of Rochester, England and a patron saint of the Rochester, N.Y. diocese today.

The other man was Henry VIII.

There was a certain nostalgia about this graduation, noted by the seminary rector, Monsignor Richard M. Quinn, who presented the graduates. He noted that it was the last of St. Andrew's graduations, since next year the school will become a co-educational high school under the new title of King's Preparatory next year.

The St. Andrew's graduates, and their parishes, are:
