Analyst Predicts

Blaine Law Doomed

Albany—(NC)—New York's Constitutional Convention will strike out the controversial Blaine Amendment and replace it with words similar to the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution after a bitter debate, a veteran legislative analyst has predicted.

The prognosticator, who has asked to remain anonymous, is a veteran of many legislative sessions and convention meetings.

He made his prediction just before the convention's Committee on the Bill of Rights and Suffrage voted to strike out the Blaine Amendment, which for nearly 70 years has prohibited students in church-related schools from receiving any public assistance.

HIS REASONING was this:

- The "emotional" arguments—those centered around what Blaine proponents call a desirably strong wall of separation between church and state—would cancel each other and the delegates will turn to the professionals for advice.
- The professionals, according to this analyst are the educators—the state Regents, college presidents and school administrators—who are more likely to base their opinions on the pragmatic question of need.
- Their advice is likely to be that the students in church-related schools need the aid, and therefore Blaine should go.

so that they can get it. Most have already said publicly that this is their position.

- The logical substitute, he said, would be wording similar to that of the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. This would permit the so-called "child benefit" theory to operate without threatening to "establish" religion.

THE FIRST act of the Blaine drama has already been played out in the preparatory hearings and behind-the-scenes committee work. Two more will follow, as the convention as a whole votes twice on the committee recommendations.

In addition to the overwhelmingly favorable attitude of the "experts" for dropping the Blaine provisions, another factor is working for its removal.

That is the committee's inclusion of a provision for permit taxpayer suits to challenge aid programs for children in non-public schools. Neither state nor federal courts will now permit such suits, and those wishing to keep Blaine have argued that, with the courtroom door shut, their only protection is Blaine's strict ban.

The courtroom door will open to permit taxpayer suits, and Blaine will go out as the taxpayer payers come in.

A Wonderful Way To Go Broke

Garbage Man Donates Church

Mettupatti, India—(RNS)—A garbage truck driver from the U.S. celebrated his 49th birthday as guest of honor at the dedication of a Roman Catholic church which he helped build from royalties of a best-seller he wrote.

James J. Fahey of Waltham, Mass., for years sent royalties from his Pacific War Diary, 1942-45, to an Indian pastor in Mettupatti, South India, he had never met to erect a church and dispensary in a country he had never visited.

The 2,500-seat Our Lady of the Seven Dolours church was dedicated in a two-hour ceremony attended by hundreds of Indians. Many at the ceremonies came to greet Mr. Fahey—adults kissed his hands and children knelt before him in gratitude. Cost of the church was about $65,000.

Mr. Fahey began contributing to the needs of the parish in Mettupatti after he learned about the poor church and its Indian pastor from a "customer" along his garbage route in Waltham.

Observed Mr. Fahey with a grin later: "It has made me broke, but what a wonderful way to go broke. Next week I'll be back driving the garbage truck in Waltham."

In September, 1966, Mr. Fahey received the annual World Mission Award of the Mission Secretariat for his outstanding services to Catholic missionary work. The award was presented to him in Washington, D.C. by Bishop Sheen, now of Rochester, who was then national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

In 1964 Mr. Fahey had received another honor—he was cited as "Garbage Man of the Year." In Waltham, they wanted to call him "Sanitation Engineer of the Year," but he declined that title as being "too lofty."

After publication of Pacific War Diary, Mr. Fahey was invited to the White House by President Kennedy. They exchanged Navy experiences and inscribed copies of their books—Mr. Fahey's Diary, and the late President's Profiles in Courage.

Berlin—(RNS)—Pope Paul VI sent a message to the World Union of Catholic Teachers, meeting here, in which he emphasized the heavy responsibility teachers have in educating the "young generation of tomorrow."

The pontiff's message was read to some 150 delegates from 31 countries representing the World Union's membership of 340,000.

Blind Girl To be Nun

New York—(RNS)—An 18-year-old girl, blind since birth, who recently graduated from high school on a four-year scholarship, will enter the Dominican Convent of Blauvelt, N. Y., in September to study for the Catholic Sisterhood.

Miss Maureen Scanlon of Mineola, N. Y., was a resident pupil at Lavelle School for the Blind here since she was three. She was graduated from Lavelle in 1963 with a scholarship from its Board of Trustees and attended Sacred Heart Academy in Hempstead, a Catholic high school.

Mrs. Burke Dies At Age 90

Funeral Mass for Mrs. Margaret C. Burke, a life long member of the Church of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, was offered in that Brockport Church Friday, July 28.

Mrs. Burke, 90, widow of the late James M. Burke of 1749 Lake Road, Hamlin, N. Y. died July 25, 1967.

The Requiem Mass was celebrated by Father Edward J. Lintz with Father L. John Hedges and Father Robert Hoffman also in the Sanctuary.

Mrs. Burke was a member of the Rosary Society of her church.

Surviving are one daughter, Cecelia M. Burke; a son, James J. Burke both of Hamlin; a grandson, Robert J. Burke and a granddaughter, Mary E. Burke.

Father Lintz gave the blessing at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Arrangements by Folwer Funeral Home, Brockport.

She will be received as a postulate at the Dominican Convent with a class of ten other candidates on Sept. 8, and will continue studies at the order's college in Blauvelt.

Miss Scanlon will not be the first blind candidate at the Blauvelt convent. She will be following footsteps set by two others associated with the Lavelle school.

Sister M. Benigna was the first blind person received in the Blauvelt community. She was one of the first pupils at Lavelle and after becoming a nun taught there since 1914. Sister M. Alma, blind poetess and author, also taught at Lavelle where she remained for 37 years until her death in 1961.
