

Breaking the Catechetical Bubble

The Catholic youngster, Peter Public-Schooler, is in line this year for a better religious instruction program.

Thirty Sisters of St. Joseph and Sisters of Mercy are currently nearing the end of a six week special course of study at Nazareth College.

Their subject is "Catechetical Approaches" to young Catholics who attend public schools.

The 30 nuns met this week with Monsignor Albert H. Schnacky, diocesan director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Father Albert J. Shamon, Bishop Sheen's Vicar for Religious Education; Fathers Daniel Holland, Hubert Posjena, S.V.D., Gerald Connor, John Glogowski, John Mulligan, John Dettleff and Richard O'Connell to plan their catechetical project for the coming school year.

Highlight of their plan is a diocesan-wide religion-teacher training program—to break the "catechetical bubble" of repeating year after year quite the same indoctrination, a method which fewer and fewer pupils will accept.

Further details of the plan will be announced in subsequent issues of the Courier.

Slipping Away
Seville —(RNS)—Jose Maria Cardinal Bueno y Monreal, in a pastoral issued here, warned that the Catholic Church is losing followers in Spain, particularly among the workers.

"The human group most remote from the Church is the world of the workers," he said. "The religious life of this group is very low and attendance at Sunday Mass varies between 2 and 10 per cent, according to districts."
