

Church Project Develops Two Olympic Trackmen

Mexico City — (NC) — The World Olympic Games here in 1968 may prove to be a showcase for a near-miracle in human betterment.

Two young Tarahumara Indians from the remote town of Chinatu are training for running events in the world competitions. Whether they win gold medals or not, their participation will focus attention on what the church has accomplished to improve the health and living conditions of Mexico's Indians.

About 3.5 million Indians — 10 per cent of Mexico's population — live in remote areas apart from the nation's culture and economy.

Chinatu is an example of what has been done in the past four years by Mexico's Episcopal Commission on Indian Welfare (CENAMI). The work was initiated by Archbishop Luigi Raimondi, then apostolic delegate to Mexico, and entrusted to the Jesuits.

Its aim is to bring Chinatu and other communities from subhuman conditions — a chronic hunger and malnutrition, unemployment, illiteracy and disease — to a civilized level of living.

In its concern for the welfare of the Indians, particularly in the Tarahumara range country, CENAMI built upon, then revitalized the old tradition of Indian endurance. What has resulted presents a startling contrast to the early reports made by Archbishop Raimondi before he launched CENAMI. These reports disclosed a seemingly hopeless picture of health conditions among the 48 Indian tribes of Mexico.

One of the specific rewards of the work, carried out by the Jesuit missionaries with the help of the Sisters of Social Service and teams of lay volunteers, has been the production of good sports and athletic teams in several towns. And climaxing that was the selection for training of the two young Indians of Chinatu, considered qualified for the top competition of the Olympic games.

In its program of aid to the Indians, CENAMI maintains radio schools, nutritional centers and a chain of arts and crafts and agricultural schools in several villages of the Tarahumara region.

Heading the undertaking is Bishop Jesus Sahagan of Pula. Dr. Frederico Gomez, of the Children's Hospital here, has pointed out that the caloric intake by the average Indian was running at 60 per cent below normal. Cornmeal (tortillas) and beans, mainstays of their diet, were seriously inadequate, he said.

"We know now that these Indians are more than willing to help themselves in many other efforts," said Robert Fahey, an American and one of the lay volunteers of CENAMI.

Uticans' Early Scores Down Mooney, 21-14

Spotting the host team an early 19 to 0 advantage Cardinal Mooney's last half rally fell short as Notre Dame of Utica handed the Cards their second successive loss, 21 to 14.

Mooney forced to punt deep in their own territory after a 15 yard penalty had a punt snap, fumbled into a ND recovery only 5 yards from pay dirt. It took all 4 downs to punch it over as Bob Saladino carried the final 2 yards to score.

Notre Dame's ensuing kick-off backed the Cards against the wall. Deep receiver Charles Lowry lost his footing and was downed on the 7 yard line.

More disaster struck the Mooney-men when fullback Dick Parker fumbled on the first play from scrimmage. The Juglers quickly seized the opportunity and Roy Cullen scored from the one. Fred Karam's kick for the extra point was good for a 13-0 lead in the first quarter.

Notre Dame moved again after a poor Mooney punt traveled only 13 yards. After a series of sweeps and of tackle smashes Ted Lewandowski took a 2 yard pass from Saladino for the touchdown. The first quarter ended 19 to 0.

The third and fourth periods saw the Mooney offense start to click. Charles Lowry took the second half kickoff and sped upfield to the 50 yard line. Reserve fullback Ronnie Kiern then spearheaded a Mooney march that was climaxed with Klem bolting over from the 7. Paul Nealon's kick for extra point was good.

The Cardinals defense also stiffened, forcing Notre Dame to give up the football. Kiern took charge again as he took the Cards from their own 40 yard line to within striking distance. Soon after, quarterback John Waffle uncorked a 35 yard pass into the waiting arms of split end Mike Bunting. The junior end made a spectacular over the head grab for the 6 points. Again Nealon's kick for the extra point was good.

In the waning moments the Uticans blocked a Terry Freeman punt that rolled out of the end zone for 2 points, and the final scoring of the day 21 to 14.

Cardinal Mooney has an open date this weekend with the next clash being on Oct. 8 against Aquinas.

Scholarship Fund to Honor Fr. Fullerton

The Rev. Vincent J. Fullerton Scholarship Fund has been established at Aquinas Institute in honor of the late Father Fullerton.

Father Fullerton, who died September 8, 1967, was a teacher at Aquinas from 1952 to 1962. During that period he served as moderator of the school's Mothers Club.

The newly established fund has been designated for scholarships to Aquinas with preference given to students from the innercity and for students with a Spanish background.

In announcing the scholarship, Father Leon G. Hart, C.S.B., principal, expressed the school's appreciation to those who have given or will give to the fund.

A memorial Mass for the late Basilian will be offered Sunday, October 1, at 11 a.m. in the Aquinas Auditorium. Contributions may be made at that time to the scholarship fund.

Aquinas Nips McQuaid

A decided edge in ball control and a key fourth-quarter pass completion produced an 18-13 victory for Aquinas over McQuaid in their annual grid-iron battle before a good-sized crowd at windy Aquinas Stadium last Sunday.

McQuaid, now 0-2 for the season, will be out to get on the win side this Sunday when it goes back to Aquinas Stadium to face Bishop Kearney.

Aquinas, in evening its record at 1-1 and raising its series edge over the Knights to 3-1, trailed 13-12 going into the last period despite its almost complete domination of the third quarter. The Little Irish, by forcing McQuaid to kick into the wind and then grinding out their own yardage on the ground, finally got good field position after a punt return to McQuaid's 35 as the fourth quarter began.

Three plays later, facing a 3rd-and-10 situation and going into the wind, Aquinas quarterback Doug Miller hit end John DePeters in the left flat for a 30-yard gain to the McQuaid 5. Bruce Costello, who gained 111 yards for the game, banged over right tackle to put his team into the lead for good.

Twice before, the Irish had taken the lead, once on a 56-yard break-away by Joe Mahar and again on a short plunge by Kevin DeHond after a sustained drive. But both times McQuaid bounced back.

The Knights tied at 6-6 on a 9-yard pass from halfback Mark Welt to fullback Bob Baker and then went up, 7-6, as Ned Roland shook loose for the PAT.

When the tally tipped back to Aquinas, 12-7, the Knights came back via the interception route. When linebacker Bill Cutler hit Miller in the act of passing, the ball went directly to defensive end Bob Schiller with nothing but 43 yards of green grass between him and the goal. Schiller's gallop put McQuaid ahead, 13-12, at halftime, and it stayed there until Aquinas's persistent attack finally had its way.

Statistics showed the Irish rushing with a wide edge, 285 yards and 40 yards passing, compared to McQuaid 100 rushing and 23 in the air. Ball control showed in the total of offensive plays: 62 for Aquinas, only 37 for McQuaid.

Last week's J.V. football debut saw sopho quarterback Mike Ryan score three touchdowns for McQuaid in a 20-12 victory over Webster.
