At Embassy

Budapest — (RNS) — Josef Cardinal Mindszenty will remain in asylum at the U.S. Embassy here, at least for the immediate future, following the collapse of negotiations between the Roman Catholic Church and the Hungarian Communist government.

Franz Cardinal Koenig, Archbishop of Vienna, who had come here several times recently for discussions with the government and with Cardinal Mindszenty, left for the Vatican, reportedly to inform Pope Paul VI personally on the unsuccessful negotiations.

It was reported that Cardinal Mindszenty insisted on walking out of the Embassy during the day "as a free man," implying a nullification of the life sentence that had been imposed on him by a Hungarian court in 1949.

There had been some speculation here that Cardinal Mindszenty might simply walk out of the embassy, where he has lived since Russian tanks crushed the Hungarian Revolution on Nov. 4, 1956, and take whatever consequences followed.

World's Largest Apartment

CCD for Co-Op City

New York — (RNS) — The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York plans to establish a "quality CCD religious education program" in the world's largest apartment complex here.

Father William Tobin, assistant director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine who is coordinating the proposed Catholic center for Co-op City in the Bronx, said:

"Within five years a decision will have to be made concerning the construction of a Catholic facility on land set aside for institutional purposes. Nevertheless, the estimated student needs probably could never be met by the construction of a Catholic elementary school."

Co-op City, which is being developed by the United Housing Foundation on a large tract in the Bronx near the city limits, will hold, when completed, a population between 50,000 to 55,000 persons. There will be 15,375 apartments.

A middle-income development, the cooperative apartments will involve a down payment of $450 per room and a monthly maintenance charge of $24 a room.

A six-room unit, with three bedrooms, would require a down payment of $2,700 and monthly maintenance of $144.

A factor which is influencing the decision of archdiocesan officials is the potential religious makeup of the Co-op City population.

According to a spokesman for UHF, estimates indicate that the tenant population will be 70 per cent Jewish and 30 per cent non-Jewish. Father Tobin said that he was informed that of the first 5,000 applicants, an estimated 25 per cent Catholic.

"Our present goals, said Father Tobin, "call for maximum flexibility and the fullest use of the facilities."

The Catholic Center at Co-op City will be located on the plaza level of the first shopping center near a provisional elementary public school and the projected Jewish Center.

The center will have a chapel with portable altar and portable seating for 80 persons, Father Tobin explained. For expected larger congregations at Masses on Sundays and major feasts, the Catholic Center expects to use an auditorium in the shopping center.

In addition to two offices for the clergy staff, a vestibule and sacristy, the center will employ folding partitions to make eight teaching locations, each with its own chalkboard and visual aid screen, the CCD official explained.
