

Anglicans, Catholics Operate Same School

St. John's, Nfld. (NC)—Newfoundland's first joint Catholic-Anglican school has been opened at Stephenville Crossing, on the west coast of this island province. It represents the first break in a centuries-old tradition of separate schools.

The four-room Holy Trinity school was dedicated (Oct. 2) by the Anglican Bishop R. L. Seaborn of Newfoundland and Msgr. Raymond Marche, vicar-general of St. George's Catholic diocese. The new school will be operated jointly by the Catholic and Anglican school boards of the area. The school has an enrollment of 108 students.

The principal is an Anglican; the vice-principal, a Catholic, and provision has been made for separate religious instruction of the pupils.

Sudan Agrees to Admit Mission Priests Again

Nairobi, Kenya—(RNS)—The Sudan has ended its 11-year campaign against Roman Catholic priests and missionaries, according to a spokesman for the East African Bishops' Conference here.

The spokesman told the press that the Sudanese government is now prepared to admit priests into all parts of the country and has informed the bishops that visa applications from native African priests will be treated sympathetically.

"This marks a change of attitude by the Sudanese government which last year expelled a large number of Christian missionaries from the South for allegedly supporting Anya Nya, the Southern Sudanese terrorist organization," he said.

Catholic spokesmen in many countries have long criticized the "Moslem-dominated" government of the Sudan for a campaign which has included the confiscation of religious schools, expulsion of missionaries and the strict supervision of the activities of many Christian activities. It has been charged that parents wishing to have their children baptized were required to get permission from police and village chiefs and that protests against restrictions on missionaries have been prosecuted as actions against the security of the state, with sentences sometimes as high as 12 years in prison.

Some observers date the beginning of the changing attitude to a letter sent to Pope Paul VI by an influential Moslem political leader in April, 1966.

The Ultimate in Convenience

Iszard's New Suburban Store

The new store of the S. F. Iszard Co. in Big Flats, near Elmira, opened Sept. 26, and is an impressive and glamorous addition to The Mall Shopping Center. This is the 63rd Anniversary year of Iszard's, and the new suburban branch is compelling evidence that they have moved with the times, because it is as modern as tomorrow.

Copeland, Novak and Israel, internationally-known architects, interior planners and designers, who pioneered the "shop" concept of store design, have utilized this up-to-the-minute concept throughout the entire store, and the result is a series of highly individual, intimate and charming shops.

The store which consists of 50,000 square feet and is entirely air-conditioned, is on one level, with three entrances, one from the Mall, one from the south side, and one from the parking lot. All entrances are clearly marked with distinctive signs.

The floor plan of the store provides the ultimate in convenience for the shopper. From the lengthy main aisle, which has a 14-foot ceiling and is devoted to Accessories and Gifts, every shop is readily accessible.

To the right of the aisle, as one enters from the Mall are the Intimate and Lingerie Shop, the General Shoe Department, the Girls' and Children's Shop and the Students', Men's and Boys' Shops. In the rear on the right is the home furnishings area, consisting of shops devoted to Linens, Towels and Domestic, Rugs, Lamps, Bedspreads and Bedding, and Curtains and Draperies.

To the left of the main aisle, running back from the Mall entrance, will be found Ready-to-Wear, Sportswear, Teenage, Junior, Fashion Circle, and Coats and Suits.

Also on the left, in the rear, are shops devoted to Notions, China and Glass, and a shop which is an extension of the area devoted to Gifts in the main aisle.

All of the shops have twelve-foot high ceilings, with the exception of the Students', Men's and Boys' Shops, which, like the main aisle, have a fourteen-foot ceiling.

The decorative theme is predominately Georgian, stated in contemporary terms. Entrances to the shops suggest the Georgian period. Wall coverings are also those appropriate for the period, with a wide use of traditional Paisley patterns.

In the Junior and Teenage Shops, where the emphasis is on bold, bright colors, the Paisley patterns are of contemporary design. The Girls' and Subteen Shops are enlivened with vertical chains of bamboo and orange polka dot with yellow bamboo. In the Intimate Shop the wallpaper pattern is a floral of morning glories in soft pink and orange and the Lingerie Shop in the same area echoes this soft pink with a pink and white polka dot pattern. The very charming Powder Room has a pink and white striped wallpaper.

Wall coverings in the Students', Men's and Boys' Shop consist of wood panels with decorative plaques and panels covered with a rough textured fabric in a woody shade of green.

Flooring throughout the store is mainly of tile, but the shops devoted to Sportswear, Ready-to-wear, Intimate Apparel and Shoes are all carpeted in tweed in tones of gold and yellow, while the Fashion Circle and Suits and Coats are carpeted in tweed in tones of green.

Decorative highlights are the striking six-foot high antique golden eagle that appears on the large panel between the Students' and Boys' Shops, the brightly colored rooster plaques and the three authentic wagon wheels that decorate the walls of the Sportswear Shop, and the real trolleys used to give the effect of a formal garden in Coats and Suits and the Gift Shop. The latter shop is also a decided eye-catcher. In a special octagonal shape, it creates the impression of a gazebo, is carpeted in a luxurious emerald green, and boasts an unusually attractive chandelier.

Distinguished art work is also a noteworthy part of the decor. All the walls of the Coats and Suits Shop are covered with colorful murals. Murals also adorn three walls in the Fashion Circle, and another mural appears on one of the walls in the Layette Shop.

DINNERS CONTINUE FOR RAISING FUNDS

EXPENSIVE CAMPAIGN TOUGH TO UNDERWRITE

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Despite all the fuss about testimonial dinners in the Dodd case, this important fund-raising device continues to be used by both major political parties.

True, the issue in the case against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., involved personal use of money ostensibly collected for campaign purposes, not the fact of the dinners themselves. But the publicity cast a shadow over such affairs and pushed campaign financing legislation to the point of action.

Still, with a costly presidential-campaign year looming ahead, leaders of both parties are beating the financial bushes for money.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., a candidate-to-be announced for next year was the honored guest at a $11-a-plate testimonial dinner in Chicago recently. A special committee raised $250,000, Dirksen said, through the affair. The senator says he even assured those present at the dinner that the procedure had the sanction of the Internal Revenue Bureau as a legal matter.

Then the Johnson administration picked up some probably unwanted publicity when attention was called to the fact that Cabinet officers were making appearances (promotional) at exclusive Washington cocktail parties arranged to drum sales for a Democratic fund-raising ball honoring President and Mrs. Johnson. The tab for that affair is $1,000 per couple.

Until a more candid legal way of fund-raising is devised, the dinner will prevail.

● RIGHT THERE, SIR—Sen. Edward M. Kennedey, D-Mass., was visiting patients in a military hospital recently when he paused at a bedside and asked a young man "Where did you get it, son?" "Out on Route 40, sir. Some fellow cut right in front of me..." was the startling reply.

● BAD WORD—That word "brainwash" got Michigan Gov. George Romney into political trouble. But the real trouble was that he applied it to himself.

Recently, Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., used it to what he thought was carefully planned effect. He charged that President Johnson had been "brainwashed" as early as 1961 by the so-called "military-industrial complex" about Vietnam. That's political ammunition.

Romney's statement that he was brainwashed in Saigon was a political backfire.

● SHIFT!—President Johnson is reported to have given up his light alcoholic drinks in favor of a second dessert, as he watches his weight.

With this development came the news that the reason his hair appears a little greyer is that he has given up that "greasy stuff" to help keep it in place. The hair cream made his locks appear darker. Decisions, decisions.

Paulist Choir Disbands

(NC)—The world-famous Paulist Choir, 70 voice male choir group, has dissolved as an indirect result of changes in the Church.

The choir has been unable to find a successor for Father Eugene F. O'Malley, recently retired director, who headed the choir since 1928.

Father James F. Cunningham, pastor of Old St. Mary's Church here, announced the decision. He said that the choir had been trained to sing in Latin and had only one English Mass in its repertoire.

He also said that the idea of the choir seems incompatible with participation in the Mass by the entire congregation. When the choir sings a Mass, he explained, the congregation merely listens. There is no place for the liturgical participation called for in Vatican Council II decisions.

By having a Latin Mass on alternate Sundays, Father Cunningham said: "I feel we were not acting in accord with the mind of the Church, which is to have a Mass participated in by the congregation. We were having a concert Mass."
