

St. Agnes Girl Wins State Contest

Marguerite Rohack, 17, a senior at St. Agnes High School, won first place in the New York State finals of the Veterans of Foreign Wars "Voice of Democracy" contest held in New York City at the NBC Studios in Rockefeller Center.

Miss Rohack's five minute speech on "Freedom's Challenge" won for her a five day trip to Washington, for the national finals and an opportunity to compete for one of five scholarships totaling $13,500.

This 21st annual Voice of Democracy contest was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States and Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW with the cooperation of the National Association of Broadcasters and the State Association of Broadcasters.

The broadest scriptwriting contest was conducted at the public, parochial, and private high school level throughout the United States and its possessions.

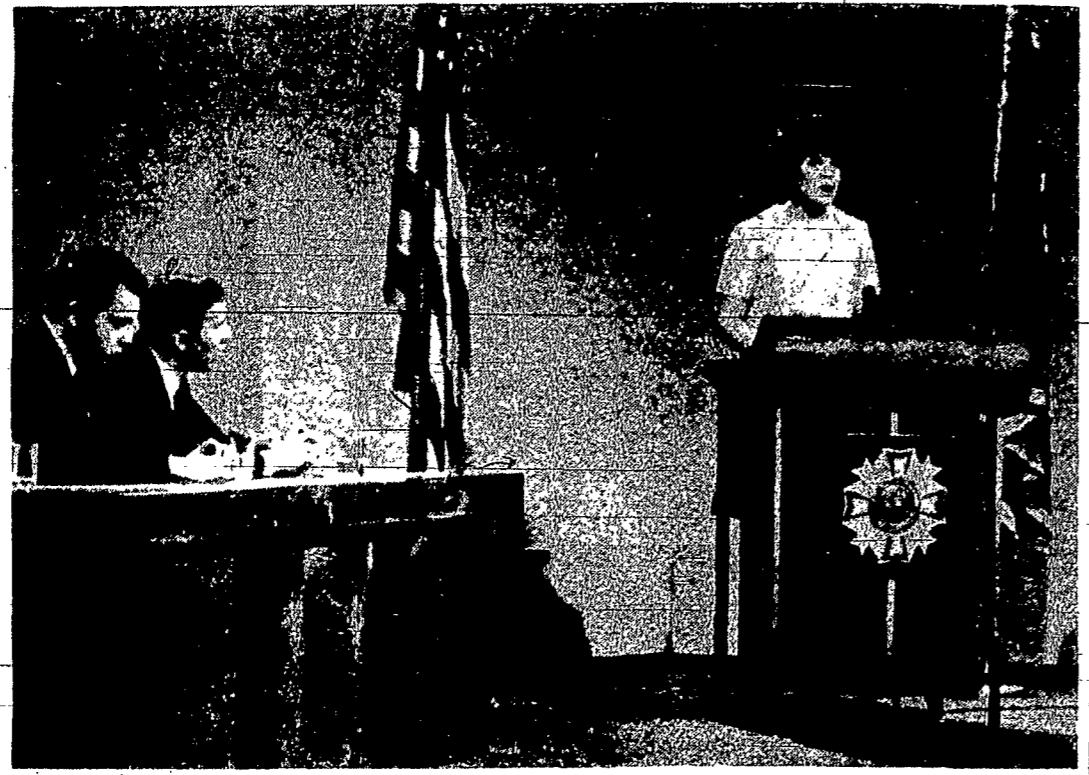

Marguerite is the eldest of six children of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Rohack of 504 Sycamore St., East Rochester. The other children are John, 13; Karen, 11; Mary Ann, 10; Diane, 8; and Paul, 6. All are pupils at St. Jerome's in East Rochester.

Miss Rohack attributed her success in the contest to Mrs. William Geer, her speech teacher at St. Agnes and to Sister Claudia, moderator of the St. Agnes Dramatic Club.

Marguerite is president of the St. Agnes Glee Club, a member of the Drama Club and the school Sodality Club. In addition to all this, she spends 16 hours weekly working as a messenger at the Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester. Last year she was student director of the musical "Carnival" played by the Glee Club. This year she played the female leads in the musical "First Impressions" based on "Pride and Prejudice" performed by the Drama Club.

Miss Rohack entered the New York State contest under the local sponsorship of the Monroe County Council VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary.

She intends to enter Nazareth College in the fall where she hopes to major in drama or speech correction.

David Shearer Dies at 62; Was Lawyer For Diocese

Funeral Mass for David H. Shearer, attorney for the Diocese of Rochester, was scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 31 at 11 a.m. in St. Mary's Church, 15 South St., Rochester. Mr. Shearer, 62, of 26 Broadway died Jan. 28, 1968.

He had been at St. Ann's Home for two months following a stroke suffered in September. During his 37 years of law practice, Mr. Shearer handled many important cases. He was appointed by Bishop Sheen in January, 1967 to the Pastoral Office Board. He was also a member of the board of St. Bernard's Seminary.

Mr. Shearer, a bachelor, resided at the University Club on Broadway for the last 20 years. He was born and lived the early part of his life at 1110 Plymouth Ave. S.
After graduating from the University of Rochester he attended Harvard Law School. His law partner at the time of his death was J. David Baker, his nephew.
He was with the Sutherland, Dwyer law firm until 1941. A new firm of Dwyer, Shearer and Dwyer headed by the late Eugene J. Dwyer, a Papal Knight of St. Gregory was then formed. The late Robert T. Dwyer was the other firm member.

Mr. Shearer served in the Army in World War II and became a captain and a judge advocate before returning to civilian life in 1945.
His nephew said: "He was a very good attorney and one of the youngest judge advocates in the Army."
Mr. Shearer's two law partners died just after he returned to the city and he continued in practice alone until joined by his nephew in 1959.

He was an expert in surrogate work. Mr. Shearer was elected president of Monroe County Bar Association in 1954.
Besides his nephew, J. David Baker, he is survived by a grand niece and a grand nephew. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Arrangements by Hedges Memorial Chapel, Inc., Main St. East.

COLLEGES

Eisenhower College is now accepting applications for admission.
(It's new — and it opens this fall.)
Eisenhower College will enroll its first class of 300 men and women in September. For many reasons, it promises to be one of the finest small colleges in the country. Here are six reasons:
1. Eisenhower will have a distinguished faculty, headed by Dr. Earl J. McGrath, former U.S. Commissioner of Education.
2. An independent, coeducational, liberal arts college, Eisenhower will offer the A.B. degree and will meet entrance requirements for graduate or professional school.
3. It will emphasize a broad program of World Studies, yet will permit each student to pursue independent study projects in depth.
4. Professors at Eisenhower will be vital men in their fields, but teaching will be given priority over research.
5. Eisenhower's 265-acre campus is located on Lake Cayuga, longest of New York's beautiful Finger Lakes.
6. All students will live in small, extremely comfortable, new residence houses. Each house is designed to provide individual privacy as well as facilities for recreation.
For admission requirements, and for information about the total Eisenhower College program, write: Director of Admissions, Eisenhower College, Box 60, Seneca Falls, New York 13148.

'Dark Nigh

In a profoundly wise passage in the 12th chapter of "The Experience of Marriage" (a box of essays written by Kaufman and wives and edited by Mich Novak) the current, birth coo dark dilemma is described as "dark night of the soul" for Catholic Church.

The chapter, titled "Embracing the Absurd," is the work of a professional man, father five children, using the name "L." "The best advice ever got on rhythm," writ "L." came to me from a cloistered monk who knew nothing about it and refused to presu to advise me. He talked inste about the life of a Christian."

Referring to such authors St. John of the Cross and Teresa of Avila, the monk remarked that it is a mistake suppose that only people monasteries or convents experience the spiritual emptiness and dryness—the absence of God—which mystical writers describe as "the dark night of the soul" or "the dark night of the senses."

At one time or another, t monk said, something of t sort "is going to hit any Christian, layman or cleric, if he striving for God... There no reaching after God except the dark."

New Picture Emerges Editor: I am very glad to see Church in Latin America reported in some depth.

The picture you give is changed from that I envisage ten years ago.

Latin American students returned Catholic missionaries told of an institution whose many significance was permeation of the social-and-econom status quo.

Your articles are saying I Church has risen in the Catholic Church of Latin-America. I hope you are right.
