Aquinas Sophomore Wins Design Contest

An Aquinas Institute sophomore has capitalized on some 200 pieces of plastic, wood and metal to earn the title of City Teen-ager of the Month.

Robert L. Shrader, 16, of St. Augustine parish spent nearly three months producing an award-winning custom car model which won for him two first places in a contest sponsored last week by the Rochester City Recreation Bureau.

Shrader spent the time making, polishing and assembling the 200 pieces into a miniature turbine-powered racing car which caught the eye of the Judges. Judging took place at the City Recreation Building on Campbell street.

Shrader was presented with two ribbons, a trophy for first place in the original design class and a trophy for the best car in the contest.

Robert's car-building labors don't interfere with his scholastic efforts. He is an honor student with a 90-plus average. He is a member of the Aquinas Color Guard and takes part in intramural activities.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shrader of 91 Wilton Ter., Robert plans this summer to scale down a technique borrowed from Detroit's auto-makers and set up a miniature assembly line. Children from the inner city will be taught to cut out, assemble and "paint" these small autos as a form of recreation, education and possibly make them available for distribution to handicapped children.

Nine Cagers On All-Catholic Team

Nine top basketball performers from the four area Catholic high schools have been honored as Rochester All-Catholic selections for the past season.

The first team is headed by Cardinal Mooney's Doug Farrell, a versatile junior playmaker who led his team in scoring and assists and placed third in the all-area voting conducted by the Gannett papers. He is joined on the first five by junior Nick Combs and senior Jim Brady, who led their McQuaid and Aquinas quintets offensively. Completing the quintet are lanky junior pivotman Dick Feber of Mooney and senior backcourtman Dan Hogan of Aquinas.

The honorable mention list includes seniors Brad Smith, a sparkling guard at McQuaid; Gary Braun, Mooney's sharp shooting forward; and Bishop Kearney's tall twosome of Dan Howland and Dennis Fitzpatrick.
