

Stalin-Real Pleasure Is to Hate Someone

This is the sixth in a series of excerpts from the book "Christ in the Communist Prisons" written by the Rev. Richard Warmbrand.

A leader of the Fascist Iron Guard, Radu Mironovici, who claimed to be a devout Christian, but was consumed with hatred for the Jews, came in as a prisoner. One day I asked Tachici to help me up in bed and I called to Mironovici, "When you take Holy Communion in your Orthodox church, are the bread and wine transformed into the actual body and blood of Jesus Christ?" He answered that they were.

you are his best friend, until one day he rests his head trustfully on your breast. And then to plunge the knife into his back. There is no greater pleasure in the world than this."

There was a long silence. We knew something of Stalin's ruthlessness even then; the rest, to be made known after his death at the hands of his colleagues, proved the truth of this chilling story.

Re-education was claiming new victims daily, and the conviction grew that unless something was done soon we should all be "converted" or killed. A rumor reached Room Four that some sort of protest was brewing among the Communist prisoners, who were the boldest among us: the guards were more careful with them, for those who were in jail today had been in power yesterday, and might be tomorrow.

I continued. "You know that Jesus was a Jew. If the wine becomes His blood, then that blood is Jewish, isn't it?" Reluctantly, he admitted it. I went on: "Jesus says that whoever eats His body and drinks His blood will have eternal life. So, to have eternal life you have to infuse in your Aryan bloodstream a few drops of Jewish blood. Then how can you hate Jews?"

He had no answer. I begged him to see that it was absurd for a follower of Jesus, who was a Jew to hate Jews—just as it was absurd for the Communists to be anti-Semitic, since they followed a Jew named Karl Marx. Mironovici was presently transferred to a distant cell, but he told Tachici, "A part of my life which was false has fallen away. I was a Christian who was too proud to follow Christ."

On the first anniversary of the triumph of Bolshevism, he said, the new rulers held a hunting party in the forest outside Moscow. Later, they rested by the fire and Lenin asked, "Tell me, Comrades, what you consider the greatest pleasure in life."

"War," said Trotsky.

"Women," said Zinoviev.

"Oratory—the power to hold a vast crowd under your spell," said Kamenev.

Stalin, as always, was taciturn, but Lenin insisted: "Tell us your choice."

At last, Stalin said: "None of you know what real pleasure is. It is to hate someone, and to pretend for years that
