

Bishop Defends Renewal Pace

Chicago—(NC)—U.S. bishops today continue to give the spiritual sacrifice of souls their first attention were defended here.

"The flesh is ever so much easier to touch and to work with than the soul," said Bishop Aloysius J. Wycislo of Green Bay, referring to critics of the U.S. Church who see it being led to "hesitantly" into the fields of social reform.

Bishop Wycislo said that in today's changing Church patterns "what is really happening and what so many modern writers miss is that there is a growing awareness of the Church as a people of bishops, priests, laymen as a family, in which the relationships of love and brotherhood are gradually assuming more importance.

But, he continued, the bishops "strangely and tragically" seem to "stand alone" in trying to bring the strength that exists within the Church into being.

Noted Nun Dispensed From Religious Vows

New York — (RNS) — Miss Maryellen Muehlen, the former Sister Charles Borromeo, a leading figure in the renewal of convent life, has been formally dispensed from her religious vows.

Miss Muehlen, as a nun and a theologian, has been prominent in Catholic and ecumenical circles, but it was primarily as a leader in the renewal of religious life that she was most widely known.

Members of the Congregation of the Holy Cross, the community to which Miss Muehlen belonged, told RNS that she had written to all the Sisters in the community explaining her reasons for leaving the religious life.

"I feel that Christ wants me to live out my commitment," she said, "in the reality of today's world, sharing its joys and sorrows and perhaps learning to help or heal a few people."

"Since I am a theologian," she continued, "I cannot live withdrawn from modern life experience."

"Personally," she wrote, "seeing the place of human growth, the place where the spirit of Christ makes demands on me that are both difficult and genuine."

Miss Muehlen, it was learned from friends here, is now living in a Chicago apartment and plans to do some post-doctoral studies at Chicago Divinity School before resuming her professional life as a teaching theologian. As a nun, Miss Muehlen had been professor of theology at the College of St. Xavier in Chicago.

Women Becomes First Catholic to Get Swedish Prize

Stockholm—(NC)—A woman writer, Mrs. Gunnel Vallquist, has become the first Catholic to receive this country's Artist's Award.

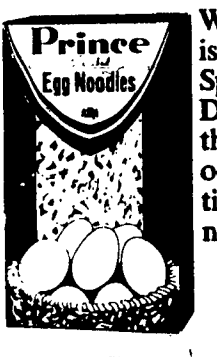

The award is given to authors, musicians and artists accompanied by a prize of more than $5,000 annually for life.

Mrs. Vallquist covered the Second Vatican Council as a journalist. Her four books on the council have been widely read throughout Europe.

She also has been invited to cover the general assembly of the World Council of Churches in Uppsala, Sweden, in July and intends to write a book on that meeting.

Vietnamese Official Sees Pope Vatican City — (NC) — Pope Paul VI received in audience Vu-Ngoc-Hoan, director of the health service of the Vietnam armed services and president of the National Association of Catholic Doctors of Vietnam recently.

POP TOPICS

Dear POP Chairman,

We realize this is a very busy time of year for many of you—scurrying on the children for those final exams, preparing for graduation festivities, making plans for that yearly vacation. Perhaps you just haven't had an opportunity to process your group's POP collection. This is when a fellow member, a trusty friend or neighbor can be of real help. Ask one of them to give you a hand—not only in counting and sorting labels, but in bringing them to the COURIER.

Did any of you happen to visit the POP office toward the end of the last game in March? If so, you surely noticed that we were swamped with a veritable deluge of material. It's to avoid this last-minute accumulation that we urge you to make turn-ins throughout any game. Tallying and recording enormous amounts at the end only results in a delay in making awards. That's why we'd appreciate your bringing or send your collections frequently.

If you've been saving at Columbia Banking on a fairly regular basis, this is the time when you'll reap your reward. A nice fat bank account with all that accumulated interest will surely come in handy for the many expenses of this particular season. We hope that those in the northwest area have taken note of Columbia's new bank-in-the-round on Ridge Road West. With the many services offered, Columbia will satisfy your varied financial needs whether these are the savings of funds, establishing a checking account or obtaining a loan.

If you haven't already looked into the advantages of dealing with Columbia—we urge you to investigate. You'll be a double winner, for not only will you profit personally, but you'll be building up valuable POP points and adding to your group's "treasury". So let Columbia be "the gem" for you.

Since the cool weather seems loath to leave us, substantial main dishes are still very much appreciated. Have you ever tried a gumbo made with some kind of fowl or sea food? Okra gives it its characteristic flavor as well as a slight thickening, while bay leaf, thyme etc. are its traditional seasonings. Another prime accent, of course, is a rich tomato flavor. And what's better for that than flavorful Hunt's Tomato Paste! To be served New Orleans-style, Seafood Gumbo should be ladled over mounds of fluffy rice and accompanied by fresh vegetable relishes and crusty bread. Sounds like lots of ingredients but it's really very easy to prepare. Just try this recipe:

- Seafood Gumbo
- 1 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1 clove garlic, crushed
 - 2 Tbl. cooking oil
 - 1 can (14 oz.) Hunt's Solid Pack Tomatoes
 - 1 can (6 oz.) Hunt's Tomato Paste
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 can (8 oz.) clams, undrained
 - 1 can (7 oz.) crabmeat, drained
 - 1 can (4 oz.) shrimp, drained
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1/2 tsp. thyme
 - dash of cayenne or hot sauce
 - 1 qt. water (4 cups)
 - 2 cups of hot cooked rice
- In a large saucepan or kettle, cook onion, green pepper and garlic in oil until tender but not browned. Add remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Cover, lower heat and simmer about 1 hour. Serve over rice in soup bowls.
- An appropriate dessert might be this sweet which is a little richer than the ordinary cookie.

- Almond Crescents
- 8 oz. bag of finely chopped almonds
 - 3/4 lbs. (3 sticks or 1 1/2 cups) Land O'Lakes Butter
 - 3 3/4 cups flour
 - 1/2 cup sugar, granulated
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - Confectioners sugar
- Blend butter and sugar. Add sifted flour. Add vanilla and nuts, mix well. This mixture may seem very dry, so work with hands. Shape small amount of dough into crescent. Bake until tips brown lightly at 375 F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet. When thoroughly cooled roll in confectioners' sugar (sift if lumpy).

Textbook R

By WILLIAM RYAN
NC News Service

Washington—A U.S. Supreme Court ruling upholding a New York State law permitting the lending of textbooks to non-public school children was hailed as an expression of confidence in private education by Catholic school officials but denounced as a setback to Church State separation by groups which opposed the law.

The Supreme Court ruled, in the so-called East Greenbush case, that the purchase of textbooks by New York State for lending to pupils in grades through 12 in nonpublic schools is not unconstitutional.

The textbook lending program had been challenged on the grounds that it violated constitutional safeguards against a "establishment of religion."

Father C. Albert Koob, C.Praem., executive secretary of the National Catholic Education Association, said the decision

Pa. Senat

Harrisburg, Pa.—(NC)—For the first time in Pennsylvania history the state Senate passed a bill which would give public aid to parochial and private schools.

But the Senate version of the legislation drastically differs from the bill which the House passed in May. It is expected that difficulties may be encountered before Senate-House agreement is reached on a compromise measure.

With amendments drafted by Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, the Senate by a vote of 26-13 passed (June 12) the bill which would provide cash payments to nonpublic schools for teachers salaries, textbooks and other

Wins C.W.V. Post

Attorney Robert H. Kanna of Rochester was recently elected to the post of Judge Advocate for the New York State department of Catholic War Veterans. His election took place during the recent state convention of the CWV at Niagara Falls.

Kanna, who is with the law firm of Nier and Doyle, will function as legal advisor for the state CWV during the coming year. A member of Sacred Heart Cathedral Post No. 1127 he resides with his mother and brother at 152 Clay Avenue.
