Magazine Uses Sharp Satire to Clip Wings of 'Flying Nut'

New York—(CPF)—People who get mad at the very mention of the "Flying Nun" should get "Mad" this month, for the popular satirical magazine features a devastating parody of the TV series, titled "The Flying Nut." (Above is a portion of the start of the Mad cartoon.)

"The Flying Nut" story is carried in the Nun Compos Mentis department. It features "Sister Brazil" and her efforts to raise funds for her convent. She ultimately converts it into a vacation resort appropriately called the "Convent Hilton." Before achieving this success she tries several other gimmicks, including "Sister Brazil's Sightseeing Airline," for which she sells rides on her back to fly over San Juan ("Refreshments will be served shortly. Would you like coffee, tea or Holy Water?") and a night club act for the Copacabana ("... who's headlining at your place right now? 'The Mamas and the Papas'? Just what I thought! I've got the greatest follow-up act for 'The Sisters and the Brothers'... two swinging nuns and two monks." Sister Brazil's "Convent Hilton" gets off to a flying start, advertising such entertainers as "The King James Trio" and "Jonah and the Walls." An urgent radio message to the Flying Nun closes the hotel, however: "Mother Superior to Sister Brazil! Do you read me?... You must put an end to this disgusting venture! This is an order from the highest authority! Repeat: the highest authority! Does the name 'Paul' mean anything to you! Over... No, I do not mean Anka!"

Museum Is Renamed

The Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences has been renamed the Rochester Museum and Science Center and will be responsible for the operation of the Strassburgh Planetarium. The planetarium is now under construction in East Avenue and is scheduled to open Sept. 22.

The museum will remain intact under the new setup and basic goals will be the same. Emphasis will be on physical improvement and programming.

Alan R. Mahl, assistant director, has been appointed director of administrative services. W. Stephen Thomas will continue as museum director and Ian McLennan will be director of the planetarium which will be dedicated Sept. 15 with a week of special showings for museum members before its public opening.

Cassock Protects

Madrid —(NC)—The growing practice of Spanish priests to wear business suits in public instead of cassocks is being reversed—by violence.

The wearing of black suits by priests as a sign of renewal has aroused resentment of some ultraconservative elements. There have been several instances of priests so dressed being physically assaulted for being "too progressive."

As a result, many priests are resuming the wearing of the cassock as "a safety" measure.

AUTOMATIC RUST-PREVENTER

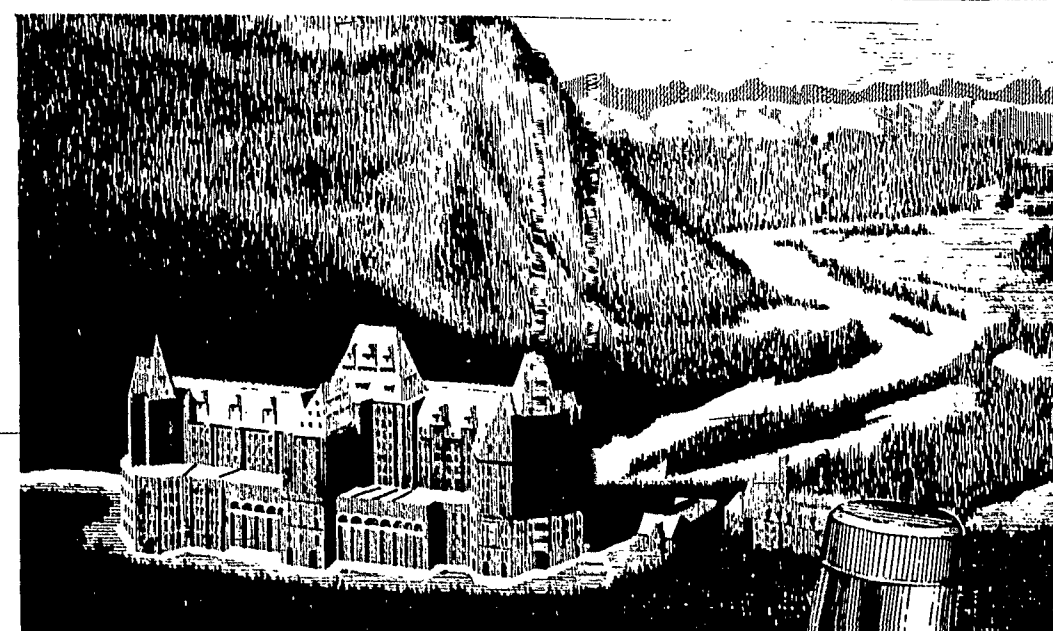

A DEHUMIDIFIER, SOAKS UP EXCESS MOISTURE— PREVENTS RUST ON TOOLS AND METAL SURFACES

An automatic electric sponge would be ideal for soaking up the excess moisture that summer's high humidity brings. But there is a better and more practical way—a portable dehumidifier. It accomplishes the same thing for you by pulling moisture from the air in your home.

With an automatic dehumidifier in your basement, the air remains dry, and you never worry about excessive moisture. Dripping pipes, rust on expensive tools and metal surfaces, mildew, rotting wood—all these costly damages need not concern you when you have an automatic, portable dehumidifier. You'll probably feel more comfortable, too, since the humidity level is reduced.

See your appliance dealer, and take one home today. Put it in your basement and plug it in. That's all there is to it! Your basement remains dry throughout this high humidity season when you have an "automatic sponge" working for you.
