Humanities students at Our Lady of Lourdes Center use hands to express emotions of kindness (girl in center at bottom), others, moving clockwise: sadness, kindness, joy, joy, fear, shame, joy, anger.

The Byword: Creativity

The nine students were sitting in a circle on the floor. "Using only your hands, express 'hopelessness,'" their teacher told them. Pause. "Now try expressing fear," she said. Then, joy. And anger. Kindness. Love. Hate. Shame. Sadness.

Another class; another teacher (locale: Greece Towne Mall): "Choose any dress from the rack and try it on. While you're there, listen to the comments of other people trying on their possible purchases."

Class Number Three was putting the finishing touches on line drawings—pasted strips of construction paper in patterned widths and patterned colors. "We use as many as we want," one boy explained, "but we must arrange them so that they are either parallel or perpendicular to each other."

Creative expression; creative writing; creative mathematics. School? Yes. Fun? Yes!

Our Lady of Lourdes School, Brighton; St. John's School, Greece; and Nazareth Hall Cadet School, Rochester, are the three sites of the Enrichment Program conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph during July. Staffed by a 16-member faculty, the program offers small-group classes in science, mathematics, literature, the communication arts, local history, art, and humanities to 244 high ability boys and girls who will be entering Grades 6-9 in the fall.

Art projects include painting giant-sized clowns to decorate their bedrooms; literary analysis demands comparing four prose versions of a Greek myth against the film-strip version. Field trips include the Buffalo Zoo, the Knox Albright Gallery, pavilion's scientific farm, the British ship in Charlotte's harbor, and the Dryden Theater.

But whether in class or on a field trip, the children learn more than subject matter. Inhibitions fall away as they come to accept one another and themselves.

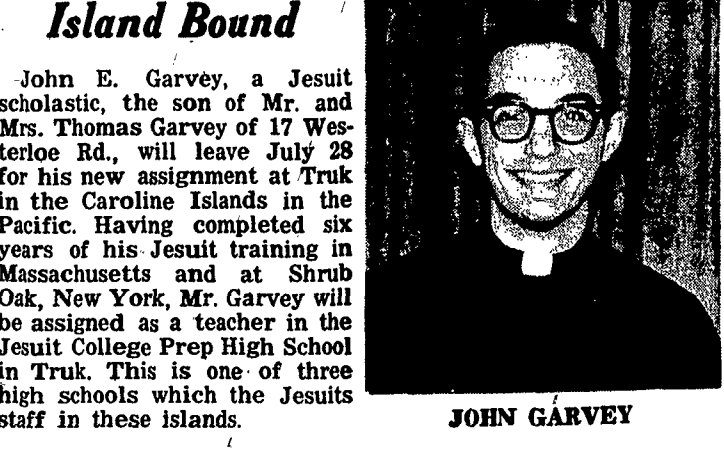

Director is Sister St. Peter, 300 East River Road. Local coordinators are Sister Eugene, Our Lady of Lourdes; Sister Felicia, Nazareth Hall; and St. Gervase, St. John's.

Sister St. Agnes assists David Welch at St. John's Center.

Russell Favasulli and John Ezrow execute a study in precision balancing for their mathematics class at Nazareth Hall's Center.

Island Bound

John E. Garvey, a Jesuit scholastic, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Garvey of 17 Westleroe Rd., will leave July 28 for his new assignment at Truk in the Caroline Islands in the Pacific. Having completed six years of his Jesuit training in Massachusetts and at Shrub Oak, New York, Mr. Garvey will be assigned as a teacher in the Jesuit College Prep High School in Truk. This is one of three high schools which the Jesuits staff in these islands.

Deaths

Dr. Sowerby Dies, Organist, Composer

A memorial service is scheduled Sept. 15 at the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C., for Dr. Leo Sowerby, American composer who died at 73 earlier this month in Cape Hope, Ohio.

Dr. Sowerby, a world renown musician who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1946, taught many of the country's leading organists, including William Ferris, director of music at St. Bernard's Seminary and organist and choirmaster at Sacred Heart Cathedral.

Born in Grand Rapids, Mich., Dr. Sowerby won the first fellowship in musical composition at the American Academy in Rome in 1921.

In 1924, he joined the faculty of the American Conservatory and eventually headed the department of composition. From 1927 until 1932, he was organist-choir master for St. James Church.

He received many musical honors, including a degree of doctor of music from the University of Rochester in 1934. His Pulitzer Prize was for "Canticle of the Sun" (or the Matthew Arnold translation of St. Francis) for chorus and orchestra.

Presented to Queen Elizabeth in 1933, he is the only American ever to receive the title "Fellow of the Royal School of Church Music."

J. E. Higgins

James E. Higgins, 82, who had been engaged for more than a decade in Catholic fund-raising, died at his home here in Geneva July 13 after a brief illness.

He was a consultant for Census Management Inc., Washington, D.C., and a senior campaign director for Foley Associates, Rochester.

Funeral services for Mr. Higgins were conducted July 16 at St. Stephen's Church, Geneva. He is survived by his wife and three children.
