Still More Anecdotes of Rochester Diocese

By FR. ROBERT F. McNAMARA

Another of the columns on Rochester diocesan historical sidelights, written by the author of "THE DIOCESE OF ROCHESTER, 1868-1968".

Perhaps a majority of the traditional tales of the Rochester Diocese deal with its priests — with their good deeds, yes, but more often than not with their idiosyncrasies.

Here are a few of the stories they tell. They are true stories unless otherwise indicated.

One of the most talented priests to work in our 12-county area was Father Aloysius Somoggi, a native of Hungary, who was pastor of St. Mary's German Church, Danville, between 1851 and 1855. While he was there, he painted an altarpiece representing the Madonna and Child surrounded by the Church militant, suffering, and triumphant. The theme was "Gloria to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good will." This large canvas is a well-conceived and well-executed work in the then current vein of the German Nazarene school of religious art.

When the old frame church of St. Mary's yielded in 1915 to the handsome present-day St. Mary's, the work of the distinguished architect John T. Comes, the altar and altarpiece were moved into the new church. At present the painting is covered by a curtain.

If Father Somoggi was the only area pastor who painted his own altarpiece, he was not the only one of refined taste. Father James E. Hartley, pastor of St. Ann's, Fairmount, from 1893 to 1920, loved fine horses and fine violins. His special hobby was the collecting of violins made by master craftsmen.

The most notable items in his collection were a Gaspar da Sala violin (1850); two Stradivari violins (1721, 1723); a violin once owned by the violinist Maud Powell; and a cello valued at $12,000.

Father Cornelius Sikke made a name for himself as pastor of St. Mary's Church, Reville, 1918-1932. When he arrived, he found this old Irish quadrangular parish in a decline. Of farming background himself, he decided to show the Reville farmers that their profession was still a good business.

He introduced his confreres to new methods of cultivation. As a result, farming at Reville took on a new lease on life, and the local railroad, the "NYP" New York and Pennsylvania Railroad, which had discontinued its service, was reactivated. Father Sikke became a member of the Steuben County Farm Bureau and was named a director of the "NYP".

One day as he walked near the orchard, he saw some youths up in an apple tree stealing and munching the fine fruit.

"Young men," the Bishop called out in his most pontifical voice, "come down from that tree!"

"Who are you?" one of the lads retorted, still munching.

"I," said McQuaid, "am the Bishop of Rochester."

"You've got a damn good job," the boy replied. "Hold on to it!"

The Bishop related the encounter to Father Emil Gefell, with one of his suppressed chuckles.

Father John McGrath pronounced

at the helm from 1848 to 1874. Father John used to take a tonic — a cod liver oil emulsion — which he found good and recommended.

His parishioners and friends began to go to his druggist and order bottles of "Father John's medicine." Subsequently, a drug manufacturer undertook to produce the tonic en masse as a patent medicine. (I gather that Father John himself had no part in this enterprise.) Today you can still buy "Father John's Medicine" in your local drugstore; and it still bears on its label a photo of the uncle of Father Michael O'Brien, quadrangular pastor of Rochester's St. Patrick's Church.

Bishop McQuaid was never lost for words, at least under ordinary circumstances. But on one occasion he found himself without an answer; and the person who silenced him was a cheeky teenager.

The Bishop lived at St. Bernard's Seminary during most of the period after 1893 when the Seminary opened. He kept a careful watch of the property — not only the buildings but the adjacent orchard and farm.

One day as he walked near the orchard, he saw some youths up in an apple tree stealing and munching the fine fruit.

"Young men," the Bishop called out in his most pontifical voice, "come down from that tree!"

"Who are you?" one of the lads retorted, still munching.

"I," said McQuaid, "am the Bishop of Rochester."

"You've got a damn good job," the boy replied. "Hold on to it!"

The Bishop related the encounter to Father Emil Gefell, with one of his suppressed chuckles.

Father John McGrath pronounced

McQuaid's streaking hooked up with Bishop Kearney in C League action last Sunday at Aquinas St. and for the second year row withstood a last-ditching onslaught by BK's as Jim McGrath to emerge 14-8 win.

The Knights will carry slate against explosive dral Prep tonight in Er Kearney, now 2-2, locks with Cardinal Moorey, 3-Sunday at Aquinas St.

Following the pattern year's clash, McQuaid roughshod over the King the first half to set up tripping off 163 yards to ney's 28. The Knights shut off Kearney's chief sive weapon, the pass, a defenders Mark Welt, Ryan, and Pat McCormick the Kings to only 4 c tions and 29 yards in tempts for the whole game.

McQuaid had its first tunity early in the game linebacker Mike Magee l Grath in the act of passi- joited the ball into the of tackle Bob Baker, who bered down to the Kearney. The Knights stalled on but inherited possession utes later on a punt an back Mark Welt powe drive which ended 10 later with his two-yard around left end for 6 Bob Thomas added the 1 his two soccer-style c stions.

The Kings replied as the second quarter, pen

"St. Ann," he said, "never let our Lady become a goddess. She never let her go out to the movies. If she went out at night at all, it was to the meetings of the Sodality. Mary spent the rest of her evenings at home, saying her Rosary."

Some of the old-time pastors were rough-hewn characters (like the fabulous Monsignor John Lee of St. Peter and Paul's, Elmira, who once signed his annual report with the name of a late trustee: "John Doe, deceased"). But they were still held in reverence by their people as the "Sogarth Aroons" of Irish tradition. And when Father Thomas Cunningham, an earlier pastor of the same Elmira church, was buried, his former parishioners—in both Elmira and Corning used to take bits of soil from his grave as relics to cure them of their ills.

German Aid Opens Taiwan Health Center

Taipei, Taiwan — (NC) — Cardinal Tien Medical Center, built in large measure by aid amounting to $975,000 provided directly or indirectly by Misereor, the overseas relief agency of German Catholics, has opened here.

Misereor donated $225,000 and channeled $750,000 from various sources through the German Catholic Center for Help to Developing Countries for the center.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the president of the Republic of China, cut the ribbon at the official opening. The Tien Medical Center is a 167-bed general hospital named for the late Cardinal Tien who, while apostolic administrator of the Taipei archdiocese, conceived the idea of a large Catholic hospital to serve the poor and sick of the area. It is the largest Catholic hospital in Taiwan.

There is a ratio of one hospital bed to every 600 people in Taiwan, as compared to one to every 40 people in the United States, and one to every 80 people in Europe.

FEEL GOOD TODAY

THE HOLY FATHER'S MISSION AID TO THE ORIENTAL CHURCH

This column's happiest readers are the men, women and children who know they're needed. The days we're busiest helping others are the happiest days of our lives. . . Who needs you most? Surprisingly, God needs you — for instance, to help an abandoned orphan become a God-loving, responsible adult. Lepers need you (there are still 15-million lepers in the world), blind children need you, and so do you. . . Here in New York we are your agents, telling you where the Holy Father says your help is needed, and channeling your help promptly and safely to the people in need. . . Want to feel good right now? Do without something you want but do not need, and send the money instead for one of the needs below. You'll feel good, especially if your gift is big enough to mean a sacrifice to you. This is your chance to do something meaningful for the world — it's God's world — while you're still alive.

HELP LEPERS  Only $8.50 gives our priests and Sisters in south India enough Dapsorie 'miracle' tablets for 43 lepers for a year!

For only $2.50 a week ($10 a month, $120 a year) you can make sure that an abandoned child has food, clothing, a blanket and love. We'll send you a photo of the child you 'adopt', tell you something about him (or her), and ask the Sister-in-charge to keep you informed.

CHILDREN NEED YOU  Your stringless gifts in any amount ($5,000, $1,000, $500, $100, $50, $25, $10, $5, $2) will help the neediest wherever they are — in India and the Holy Land, for instance.

Only you can make your will — and do it this week to be sure the poor will have your help even after you're gone: Our legal title: CATHOLIC NEAR EAST WELFARE ASSOCIATION. Also, our priests will offer promptly the Masses you provide for.
