A go getter all his life, Di schools, Filippo now frets about the current letdown of the program Telling it like it is, he has a three-adjective summary of the situation: "Apathetic, complacent_terrible!

duced by Catholic schools, there are tens of thousands physically unfit," Di Filippo said. "There's no telling how many among those thousands could attain ath-letic distinction if they only had "More than 75% of our chil dren in elementary schools don't receive a continuing, teacher directed program of physical education. And there's no need for such a deplorable situation," he

Di Filippo has impressive cre-dentials to back up his observaions. A native of Newark, N.J., he was a letterman in five sports -football, basketball, track, boxing, swimming - during his student days at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. He was national collegiate 150-165 pound boxing champ in 1932.

He carned his master and doc or degrees at New York University and Fordham and now formally is Dr. Victor J. Di Fillippo. His wife and two daughters now make up an all-teacher house hold. He's director of the depart-ment of health, physical educa-

Bishop Seeks End To College Dispute

San Francisco - (NC) -Auxiliary Bishop Mark J. Hur-ley of San Francisco has been elected chairman of the Citizens Committee for San Francisco State College.

But rather than making any headway in settling the two-month-old dispute, Bishop Hurley has had to devote most of his time to convincing both sides that he is not working for the other.

"This committee," he said after its first full-dress meeting in San Francisco Public Li-brary, "does not consider itself the representative of any group, but rather conceives of itself as a neutral body seeking to initiate true dialogue among the contending factions."

The committee was formed by political, civic, religious, business and labor leaders at the suggestion of San Francisco Mayor Thomas Alioto, But, said Bishop Hurley, it does not intend to work for the government interests. ment interests

It will "see solutions to hon-est and documented grievances and effect reconciliation with not only the educational community but in the commu-nity at large," he said.
