

Bishop Lauds Scout Leaders

Geneva — Scout leaders are fulfilling a mission by keeping moral values before the minds of youth, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen said here April 24 at the 22nd annual report dinner of the Diocesan Catholic Committee on Scouting.

Held in the American Legion Post Home on Lockland Road, the dinner featured presentation of awards to a priest and ten laymen.

"You have a mission," the Bishop told his listeners, "not only to the Church but also to the country. If you wish to keep your forests, you have to keep the trees . . . if you wish to keep your rights and your liberties, you've also got to keep your God."

There is a potential in youth, the Bishop declared, "which has not been fully tapped."

The dinner involved two "firsts." It was the first time the Committee has presented an award to a woman, and the first time an award went to a non-Catholic layman working with a Catholic Scout troop.

The woman is Mrs. Mary Walton of St. Charles Borromeo parish, Rochester, who has been an active Scout Den Mother for more than a decade.

The layman is Walter Rohnke, who has been cubmaster of Pack 101, sponsored by Holy Rosary parish, since September, 1955.

Father Joseph Brennan, rector of St. Bernard's Seminary, received the Bronze Pelican Award for his long interest in Scouting and for the fact that he has hosted the annual Oletiana Council Retreat at the seminary. The next retreat is slated there Sept. 28-30.

Charles F. Krochmal, an Eagle Scout of Troop 73, Wayland, spoke at the dinner on "What Scouting Means To Me." John Davie, area chairman of the Finger Lakes Council, welcomed the guests.

Father Robert Winterkorn, assistant pastor of St. James Church, Rochester, is chaplain of the diocesan Scout Committee, of which John C. McCarthy Jr., Rochester, is chairman.

Bp. Hickey To Ordain 23 Deacons

Bishop Dennis W. Hickey, auxiliary bishop of Rochester, will ordain 23 St. Bernard's seminarians to the diaconate, in a public ceremony at St. John the Evangelist Church, Greece, tomorrow night, May 3, at 7.

Four men will be ordained for service in the Rochester diocese: Peter Bayer, whose home parish is Corpus Christi; Donald Curtiss, of St. Michael's; Philip Helfrich, of St. John the Evangelist, Spencerport; and Robert Hoffman, of St. Alphonsus, Auburn.

Three will be ordained for the Diocese of Hartford, Conn.: one for Norwich, Conn.; one for Orlando, Fla.; two for Providence, R.I.; one for Rockville Center; two for St. Petersburg, Fla.; eight for Syracuse; and one for the Order of Friars Minor, Capuchin.

The ceremony will be public for the second time in the diocese. Father Joseph Brennan, rector of St. Bernard's Seminary explained that this practice springs from the renewed emphasis on the diaconate in Vatican II.

He noted that public ordination in different parish churches will provide a closer view of religious vocations for the layman.

Dr. Melvin Wentland of the biology department of St. John Fisher College (in white shirt) aids students in testing waters along debris-ridden shore of Irondequoit Bay. Students are Juniors Douglas J. Urban, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Urban, 382 Brandon Road, Irondequoit, and Bernard J. Farnand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Farnand, 116 Hager Road, Greece.

Fisher Students' Aim: Reclaim Irondequoit Bay

An attempt to help reclaim Irondequoit Bay as a prime recreational site for the Greater Rochester area is one of the aims of a study being undertaken by students in the biology and chemistry departments of St. John Fisher College.

The study, started this spring, is expected to take from two to three years, and the Rochester Committee for Scientific Information has indicated interest in publishing the results.

Heading the project are Dr. Edward Gessner and Dr. Melvin Wentland of the college's biology department and Dr. Robert Kieffer of the chemistry department.

The "new approach" is described as "getting the students involved in the relevancy of the community."

Included in the program will be ecological and vegetation tests, with final results expected to "add to the body of knowledge on pollutants."

SISTER OTTILIA

Nun to Note 75 Years as Religious

Seventy-five years in religious life will be marked this month by Sister M. Ottilia Kassman, SSJ, who, at 84 years of age, is the oldest Sister of St. Joseph in the diocese.

Sisters and friends will celebrate the anniversary at a Mass and dinner Thursday, May 15, in Immaculate Heart of Mary Convent, a residence for retired Sisters at 428 Mt. Vernon Ave., Rochester, where Sister Ottilia has lived since retirement.

Sister Ottilia was the first girl from St. Francis Xavier School, Bay Street, to enter religious life. She taught in diocesan schools for 67 years before retiring.

Sister taught at Holy Trinity School, Webster, for 30 years, and also taught at parochial schools in Rochester, Greece, Auburn, Dansville, Wayland and Perkinsville.

Relatives and friends also are planning to observe her 95th birthday on May 29.

Essay Contest Features Drive for Decent Movies

Striving to interest persons in the Rochester area in the need to do something to bring a change in "pornographic and obscene" movies, the Citizens for a Decent Community this week were:

• Picketing the Riviera Theater on Lake Avenue, with signs contending the current movie is "obscene";

• Announcing winners of an essay contest for children living in the Lyric Theater neighborhood of North Clinton Avenue;

• Giving talks and showing a documentary film at organization meetings throughout the Greater Rochester area. The film, for adult audiences only, is a 45-minute presentation outlining court rulings on obscenity and the law and displaying portions of "pornographic" films being shown currently.

• Seeking CDC membership.

The CDC sponsored an essay contest which resulted in the following winners:

Grand prize — a bicycle donated by Sears-Roebuck Company; Stanley

James, School 8, who asked for "family-type movies" at the Lyric because "my mother does not like us to go uptown, it is too far."

Small bank accounts opened by Central Trust Company to:

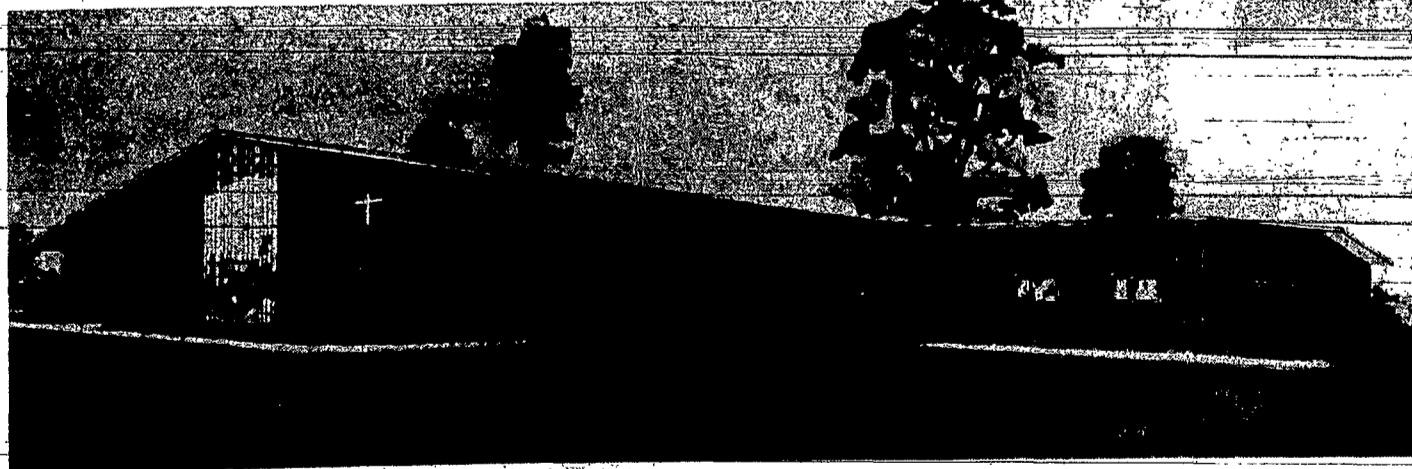

Mary Ellen Graupmann, School 20, who wrote that she likes to see "comedies, cartoons and Disney movies . . . that's when I have a good time . . . if I had a nice theater in my neighborhood I could go there on Saturdays and holidays."

George Maschke, St. Michael's School, who wrote that "our community has had enough corruption without the Lyric Theater adding fuel to the fire," and who added that "the young children of this community need a good, clean family theater to show children's movies."

Frances Woods, St. Bridget's School, whose essay thanked City Manager Seymour Sher "for taking time off to read this letter" and asking him to do what he could to change the type of movies shown at the Lyric because "we enjoy looking at comedys, cartoons, dramas, biography, etc., that is worth seeing."

Presbyterians Invited to Mass

Members of Gates Presbyterian Church have been invited to the 9 a.m. Mass Sunday, May 4, in Holy Ghost Church. The Rev. Mr. Donn Vickers, pastor of the Presbyterian congregation, will be in the sanctuary and will extend a greeting to the congregation.

$100,000 for Holy Cross

Dryden Parish Goes Over Top

Dryden — Parishioners of Holy Cross parish who last night cheered the topping of the $100,000 goal in the fund-appeal for a new church, learned they may occupy the building by early October.

Father Thomas K. Cleary, thanked the parishioners and especially the campaign workers, at a victory rally in the parish center here for going $1,000 over their goal, and promised that construction would begin immediately after a groundbreaking on May 11.

The new brick-faced church, with rectory connected to it, will be built on South George Road just north of Route 13 in the western part of the town. There will be seating for 400 people.

A nursery and meeting room, parish office and living quarters for the pastor will be provided in a wing of the building.

Duane Writers, chairman of the fund appeal, and Richard Smith, solicitation and collection chairman, announced to happy parishioners that the Women's Guild of the parish had promised $6,000 of the total.

Richard Moore, advance gifts chairman, reported that the memorials offered had been well covered. Theodore Lange, followup chairman, explained that pledges covered a 3-year span.

Catholicism in the town of Dryden goes back to 1851, when a small chapel was opened in McLean. But there was no resident priest until 1950, when Father Cleary was named Catholic Chaplain at the George Junior Republic and the Republic authorities offered its Christ Chapel for the use of the Catholic community of the area.

Holy Cross became a parish in 1962. A drive for building funds that year totalled $42,860 for a Parish Center. Prior to the current church building appeal the parish had saved closed to $100,000, hoping for its own church after close to 20 years of worshiping in the chapel of the Republic in Frevelle.
