Theological Center Gets $25,000 Grant

A New York City philanthropic trust has donated $25,000 to the Rochester Center for Theological Studies for development of the center and to help pay for the move of Bexley Hall from Ohio to Colgate Rochester Divinity School.

Colgate Rochester and Bexley Hall have been joined in forming the Rochester Center by St. Bernard's Seminary, with the general purpose to combine some faculty and facilities in the training of young men and women for the parish ministry.

Bexley Hall, an Episcopal seminary long associated with Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio, moved last year to the Colgate Rochester campus.

The $25,000 grant was announced by the Charles E. Merrill Trust, a 13-year-old organization which has supported programs in education, health and religious welfare.

The three seminaries will retain their separate identities in associating with the center, while coordinating programs at various levels of cooperation. Also under negotiation is an association with the University of Rochester. Planned field experience will bring students face to face with such pressing social problems as racial strife, narcotics addiction, poverty and alcoholism.

A Regal Dessert with Fresh Fruit

In a recipe for Strawberry Royal from "Beecher's Receipt Book," published in 1857, the writer concluded instructions on making the beverage with the remark that "it is delicious for the sick — for the well." Somehow, you get a vision of the poor 19th Century housewife, toiling to put by her annual stock of Strawberry Royal for "the sick," only to have "the well" swoop into the cellar and lay waste her supply with stealthy swilling.

Not that anyone would blame "the well." Strawberries in any form are royal indeed, particularly in summer when they're in peak supply. So while they're plentiful, yield to temptation and put them into desserts and salads and preserves of all sorts.

A royal temptation that underscores strawberries is Cream Cheese Almond Mold. This refrigerator confection, incorporating cream cheese with prepared whipped topping will give you one more reason to serve strawberries. And in case you're counting calories in fresh fruit time, it's comforting to know that you can top them with prepared whipped topping, which volume contains just about half the calories of whipped cream.

Strawberry Mousse is a frozen dessert, also featuring the whipped topping mix, that can star alone, unaccompanied, or lend itself nicely to the flattery of fresh strawberries.

CREAM CHEESE ALMOND MOLD

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup cold milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 envelopes whipped topping mix

Cream Cheese Almond Mold is a refrigerator confection combining cream cheese with whipped topping mix to give you one more reason to serve strawberries or any favorite fruit in peak supply.

- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup toasted chopped almonds
- 1/4 cup macaroon crumbs
- 1 pint strawberries sliced*
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar

*Or use about 2 cups any fresh fruit, sweetened if desired.

rected on package; blend in confectioners' sugar and almond extract, using medium speed of electric mixer or rotary beater. Add cheese, a small amount at a time, blending until smooth after each addition; blend in gelatin mixture. Fold in almonds and macaroon crumbs. Pour into 8x4-inch loaf pan which has been lined with wax paper. Chill at least 4 hours. Unmold on platter, remove wax paper. Combine strawberries and granulated sugar; spoon over top of loaf. Makes about 5 1/2 cups or 18 servings.

COCONUT MOUSSE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup milk, scalded
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup cold milk
- 2 envelopes whipped topping mix
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 1/2 cups (about) flaked coconut
- Dash of salt
- 2 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Add gelatin to water—let stand 5 minutes. Add scalded milk and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Then add sugar and salt, stirring until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened.

Meanwhile, combine 1 cup milk and the whipped topping mix in a deep narrow-bottom bowl; whip as directed on package. Melt butter in skillet. Add coconut and salt; saute until coconut is delicately browned. Crush slightly. Fold 1 cup into the slightly thickened gelatin mixture. Add prepared whipped topping and vanilla, mixing thoroughly. Spoon into 12 individual soufflé cups. Freeze until firm—at least 3 hours. Garnish with remaining sauteed coconut and fresh fruit, if desired. Makes about 4 1/2 cups or 8 or 9 servings.

Brighten Rainy Day

Sudden showers that confine the kids indoors may bring some tense moments for mother unless she's planned ahead. Sharp new crayons (hidden away for this very moment), an extraordinary coloring book, and finger food on bright, striped paper plates can be a big help.

Drumsticks stacked high team handsomely with twin-stack southern yam steamers. Minced meat and marshmallows are spicy decks and sugary funnels on ready sliced yam hulls.

On second thought, why wait for a rainy day for these ships to come in? They'll please the small fry-rain or shine.

YAM AND GUM PARTY

- 1 lb. 10 or 12 can halves Yams
- Canned Minced Meat
- Miniature Marshmallows

Spread minced meat thinly on flat side of yams and place in greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) until heated through.

Top with one or two marshmallows to make smoke stacks. Quickly pass under broiler to brown edge of marshmallows.
