Report from Bolivia 'Thank-You' From La Paz

The following is the latest report from Father Peter Deckman, one of three diocesan priests assigned to the diocesan Latin American Mission in La Paz, Bolivia.

La Paz, Bolivia — A cold windy day. Since there is little vegetation, the winds do a pretty good job of blowing dust, dirt and what-not-around.

Father Ed Golden came back well refreshed from a deserved month in the States, and began a course in pastoral theology and its social implications at IBEAS—the Dominican social study center in La Paz. The red head is quite a sight on the yellow and black motorbike he uses to get back and forth to classes.

At the same time Father Ed came back to La Paz, Father Paul Freemesser took off for Mayo Brothers Clinic in Rochester, Minn., to undergo examination from his recent bout with hepatitis. According to latest reports, Father Paul posted negative results in all his tests and should arrive back on the mission in October.

The parish inauguration was held with the presence of the archbishop, other ecclesiastical dignitaries, the mayor and local political officials. Everyone had a good time, and we hope the Lord will bless this little spot of earth with a greater sense of Christian unity. Thanks to the material and spiritual benefits that are making this mission possible.

Father Roy Klrgens, a classmate of Father Deckman, spent a little more than three weeks in Bolivia recently, half of it in the parish and half scouting around the countryside. It lifted our spirits to have him here.

At this point, we wish to express our thanks for the May Collection held in the diocese for the three missions—the Sisters of Mercy and St. Joseph and ourselves. Besides the generous sum of money, we are pleased that the people of Rochester are also collaborating with their prayers and moral support.

Please keep all of us in your prayers.
Father Peter Deckman

'I Stay... I'm Happy,' Becket Rector Says

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, currently printing a series of selections from a book "Why Priests Leave," edited by Father John A. O'Brien, offered space to four Rochester priests to explain "Why I Stay."

The following is the full statement of one of the respondents who was quoted last Sunday. Father Hohman is Rector of Becket Hall Seminary, Rochester.

WHY I STAY—A MORE POSITIVE APPROACH

By FATHER LOUIS HOHMAN

On the day of his ordination, any priest experiences, more than anything else, a sense of eager, almost impatient commencement. He is about to begin a quest which he has dreamed about for many years—to bring Christ to the world and the world to Christ. It is quite unrealistic in a sense, because it embraces the whole world.

I remember the day distinctly, especially the talk given by Bishop Kearney after the ceremony. He used as his text the Gradual of the Mass for the Feast of St. Luke. It reads, "I have chosen you out of the world, that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain." Jn. 15, 16.

At the time these words were not just meaningful, but thrilling. I thought of how so many people need Christ, how so many were floundering in their own lack of purpose, how the world was often so wrong in its sense of values, how much ignorance of life's true meaning.

I believed that Christ was indeed the Saviour of the world and that I had a whole lifetime to bring people to accept him as such. And I was eager to get on with the work. That was the ideal and it was more than enough.

It didn't take long to realize that there were countless roadblocks in the way of realizing this ideal, but after all, these possibilities for innovations in collegiate education. He will spend the fall semester at Claremont and during spring will visit selected colleges in the northeastern United States.

On his return the Basilian priest will resume his position at Fisher College, with responsibility for long-range planning in academic affairs and special attention to contemporary needs of students.

Ordnained in 1942, Father Dorsey taught at Aquinas Institute from 1944 to 1947, and was assistant professor of English at St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto from 1947-61 before joining Fisher College.

Mr. Schwonke was a budget analyst at the Eastman Kodak Company, where he had worked for 38 years. He served as an Army lieutenant in World War II. He was a member of the St. Thomas Holy Name Society and was active in parish Boy Scout work.

Surviving are his widow, Eva Heuer Schwonke, a daughter, Mrs. David Reid; two sons, Paul and John, and one grandchild, a sister, Mrs. Charles Topham, and a brother, Robert.

Shannon Lee Culhane, born Aug. 20, 1969, to Mr. and Mrs. John Culhane of 261 Birr Street, died eight days later, on Thursday, Aug. 28.

Survivors include the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Culhane and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Andrus, and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Steward C. Andrus.
