Archbishop Sheen:
Friend of Three Popes

Before coming to Rochester, Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen had served as Auxiliary Bishop of New York and national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. He is shown here with three of the Popes under whom he served. At top, Archbishop Sheen chats with Pope Pius XII in 1958. Center he poses with Pope John XXIII in 1959. Below, he confers with Pope Paul VI at a private audience which preceded the opening of the Synod of Bishops in 1967.
