From the Office of Human Concern

By Father John J. Hempel

Memo to: Sister Josepha Immaculate Cister Church

Sorry to see that the supply of beds and furniture has been so depleted in the depot at the St. William's House. It is, however, a good indication of how well the facility is being used by the disadvantaged. I will see that the L.A.C.E. group of women will receive a thank you note for covering the depot during the past few weeks. Their presence there was most beneficial to all concerned.

Memo to: Father Kevin Murphy — St. Mary's, Canandaigua
You are to be congratulated for organizing your CCD high schoolers for a canned food drive. Father Buckland informs me that you collected 4,000 cans of food to be used in Yates and Ontario counties for low-income families. The efforts of your young people will be even more appreciated this year because of the severity of the winter.

Memo to: Rev. Larry Copard, Joint Office: The educational program to be presented to the Rochester Board of Education appears to have a far-sighted approach in providing quality education on an overall basis. If this plan is adopted I am sure that the Catholic school system is going to be affected by an attempted influx of those whose parents will seek to escape the integration factor which comes as a fringe benefit from this proposal. It would be well for us to examine all the potentials of such a move, whereby we would be caught even more in the web of segregation. This could have implications for future policy in the whole Diocese.

Memo to: Father Timothy Weider, Secular Mission: It was good to visit your center in Perkinsville this past Sunday. I was glad to hear that you had broken ground for at least one of the new self-help low-income houses in Steuben County. As soon as the weather clears I sincerely hope you will be able to complete this project and give housing to people who are desperately in need of it.

New Dean Appointed At Catholic University

Washington (NC)—The long controversy over the dean of the School of Sacred Theology vacancy at the Catholic University of America here seems to have come to an end with the appointment of Father Robert Reginald Masterson, O.P.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Clarence C. Walton, CU president, who said he expected the controversy to come to a halt. "But," he cautiously added, "we can never predict the future."

Several CU faculty members had wanted Father Roland Murphy, O.Carm., a member of the faculty, named dean. Although Father Murphy gained widespread support from theologians, he was turned down by the school's trustees, reportedly because he signed a statement dissenting from Pope Paul VI's birth control encyclical, Humanae Vitae.

Father Murphy said he intends to resign from CU because "a principle is involved here. This leaves me no other course of action."

Asked if the appointment of Father Masterson would end the long-standing controversy, Father Murphy said, "I certainly hope it does," and he added that he wishes Father Masterson "very good luck."

Father Masterson expressed confidence that cooperation will replace the controversy.

"Assured by both the search committee and the administration that all parties to the present dispute had agreed to accept the decision arrived at through my appointment," Father Masterson said, "I have confidence in their loyal cooperation in our common task for the Church."

Father Walter Schmitz, who headed a search committee established at the height of the controversy, said Father Masterson was one of seven persons on a list submitted by the committee.

"We were not asked to make a selection," he emphasized, "but to submit a list."
