

2 Hospitals Affiliate Medical Departments

Affiliation of the medical departments of St. Mary's Hospital and the University of Rochester Medical School was announced last week.

It will coordinate medical education and research within the two departments and expand their facilities to educate health care personnel. The departments of surgery of the two institutions have been affiliated since 1967.

Dr. Gerald Eckert, associate professor of medicine at the

UR, has been appointed chief of medicine at St. Mary's

For the Medical School, the new affiliation adds another community hospital through which its interns and residents in medicine may rotate.

Other hospitals affiliated with the UR Medical School are Genesee, Highland, Rochester General and Monroe Community, as well as Veterans Administration Hospitals in Canandaigua and Batavia.
