

City Adopts Own Movie Rating System

Jersey City, N.J. — (NC) — Dissatisfied with the film industry's rating system, Jersey City has enacted an ordinance that provides a backstop.

Modeled on an ordinance suggested by the Christian Communications Apostolate of the Newark archdiocese, the ordinance establishes a motion picture review board and is aimed at keeping children under 18 from attending unsuitable films. It was approved by a 7 to 0 vote. Officials of the CCA testified before the City Council prior to the vote.

Under the law, exhibitors will be required to file a proposed classification for each film they intend to show. They must also file a summary of the plot and other information the board might consider necessary.

If the board approves the classification, it will adopt that classification as its own. Otherwise it may request a showing to five of its members who would determine the classification.

Penalties are provided for exhibitors who show films of an X-rated nature (no one under 18 admitted) without advertising the classification and for knowingly selling tickets to such films to those under 18. Those misrepresenting their age to gain admittance would also be subject to penalties.

CYO Honors 'Easy' Riders

Chalk up another "first" for the Rochester Catholic Youth Organization—awards to youngsters for being good bus riders.

Since Feb. 1, more than 1,000 pupils from nearly 20 area parochial schools have been transported by the newly-obtained CYO bus for an afternoon weekly for six weeks at the Columbus Civic Center gymnasium and swimming pool.

To be eligible for an award, pupils were chosen on attendance, performance and attitude. Selected were 12 boys from two Irondequoit schools — St. Thomas the Apostle and St. Margaret Mary. They were:

Scott Wilson, Dan Callan, Max Schleuter, Kevin Morton, Peter Christensen, Mark Van Epps, Jerry May, John Camp, Mike Curnick Blair Murphy, Mark Bollin Larry May.

Top-flight Bands In Aquinas Parade

Three championship musical marching units will highlight the Aquinas Institute parade Thursday night, June 18, according to Father John R. Whitley, CSB., band moderator at Aquinas.

The West Genesee Central School Band and the St. Joseph's Drum Corps will travel a distance to pace the parade with the Crusader Drum Corps of Rochester, at the opening of the Aquinas Fun Festival. The West Genesee unit is from Camillus and the St. Joseph Corps from Batavia.

The parade will begin at 7:30 at Aquinas. The line of march will be Dewey Avenue to Ridgeway and Ridgeway to Aquinas Memorial Stadium.

WOMAN HONORED

Tarrytown—(RNS) — Marymount College, one of the nation's leading Roman Catholic women's colleges, has awarded an honorary degree for the first time to a woman. Mrs. Louis Clader Jr. of New York City and Watch Hill, R.I., was cited for outstanding contributions to the college, especially as a member of its board of trustees.
