Soldier's Letter Spurs Scipio Center Drive

Scipio Center — Challenged by a letter from an American soldier in Vietnam, parishioners of St. Bernard's Church here and its missions in Fleming and Genoa will undertake a campaign for drugs, vitamins and soap to help save the lives of deprived and diseased Vietnamese.

Father Daniel V. Hogan, pastor of St. Bernard's and of St. Isaac Chapel, Fleming, and St. Hilary's, Genoa, included the soldier's letter of appeal in the July 26 parish bulletin. There was no indication how he had received the letter, which was from Spec. 4C Kevin M. Smith of Texas.

Smith's letter graphically described his seeing people dying of vitamin deficiency and disease, and of children dying from malnutrition. He appealed for help from individuals and church groups as "a corporal work of mercy." He wrote he was sending the missive to churches and to drug firms.

He asked particularly for drug and vitamin "samples" which "ordinarily only clutter up doctors' offices," and for "individually wrapped candies—the kids would dig on that."

Father Hogan commented that here was someone who "is trying to do something Christian . . . to win the hearts of the Vietnamese by kindness and a concern for human difficulties." He suggested that parishioners could leave donations at the Scipio Center rectory or any of the churches.

He noted that Smith was a conscientious objector to war, who took a position with the Army medical corps. His address: Sp. 4c Kevin M. Smith, A52-78-4827 Aid, Tm. I. C. Mat. 142, APO San Francisco, Calif., 96325.
