Desirables Under the Elms

Residents of Rochester living on Nunda Blvd. will attempt on Saturday, Sept. 19, to recycle their "valuable junk" into funds to care for existing elms, and for new trees to replace dead elms.

This fourth annual "Desirables Under the Elms" curbside rummage sale will offer attic treasures, books, outgrown toys, clothing, baked goods, as well as a special table of handicrafts made by the residents especially for the sale.

Henry Ferris President of The Nunda Boulevard Association, said last year's sale netted over $700 and that most of the merchandise was sold within the first two hours of the sale.

Through the efforts of the residents, The Nunda Boulevard Association has been able to prolong the life of many of its elms and replace dead elms with large oaks, sycamores, and locust trees and thus preserve the beauty of the street.

The sale will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will last until everything is sold. Rain dates are Sunday, Sept. 20 at 1:00 p.m., or Saturday, Sept. 26 at 10:00 a.m.

Ithaca Church Plans Special Fund Drive

Ithaca — Parishioners of Immaculate Conception Church will be asked during the next two weeks to consider an increase in their weekly parish support in order to meet rising costs and to reduce indebtedness.

Committeemen will visit half of the parishes on Sunday, Sept. 20, and the remaining half on Sunday, Sept. 27. The goal is to raise the weekly income from the present $3,000 average to a minimum of $4,500.

Father Devereaux Testimonial Held

Caledonia — More than 350 well-wishers attended the testimonial banquet on the occasion of Father William Devereaux's retirement to witness to the respect and devotion his congregation and the community hold for the man who, since 1944, has been pastor and counselor to the people of St. Columba and St. Patrick Churches, in Caledonia and Mumford.

The invocation was given by Father Emmett J. Halloran, newly appointed pastor of the parish. Greetings were given by Thomas Ball, co-chairman of the dinner with William Reinagel. Master of Ceremonies was Thomas J. Connor.

Among guests at the head table were the Misses Marie and Margaret Devereaux, sisters of Father Devereaux, Bishop Joseph L. Hogan, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Duffy, Father Daniel Holland, and Eldred O'Shea.

After dinner, members of the community and clergy were asked to reminisce on the years from 1944 to 1970. Those who participated were Mrs. Mary Papero, for the women of St. Columba's; J. J. Doley, Village Mayor of Caledonia; Michael Freeman, representing the youth; Father David Connor, native of the parish; Mrs. Timothy Simms of St. Patrick's Church; Dr. Frederick Hinsdale from the Caledonia - Mumford Central school; and Father

Bishop Hogan and Father Devereaux at testimonial.

Francis Marks, former weekend assistant to Father Devereaux.

Bishop Hogan expressed the gratitude of the diocese for the long years of service by Father Devereaux.

Eldred O'Shea presented Father Devereaux with a community remembrance — a gift of money—which he acknowledged with gratitude, expressing his appreciation for all the cooperation given him by members of the congregation through the years.

At the conclusion, Father Holland gave the benediction.
