

Bishop Walsh Visits President

Washington—(NC)—Bishop James E. Walsh, the Maryknoll missionary released last July after 12 years in a Chinese communist prison, sat down in the White House Oct. 16 for a short chat about baseball with President Nixon. The brief meeting was arranged by Maryland Republican congressman and senatorial candidate, Glenn J. Beall, Jr.

Sitting in gold upholstered chairs, all six men in the party squinted from the high-powered lights of newsreel photographers. Bishop Walsh sat on the president's right, looking somewhat bewildered. Beall, on Nixon's left, chatted with the president. Afterward, Bishop Walsh flew immediately back to Maryknoll headquarters at Ossining, N.Y., where he plans to live.

'Birthright' Agency Forming

Philadelphia — (NC) — Pennsylvanians for Human Life, an interfaith citizens' group combatting abortion, announced here it was forming a consultation service for women with problem pregnancies.

Mrs. Susan Bartolini, a member of the group's executive committee, said in a radio interview that the service, called "Birthright," would counsel women on available medical services, jobs and places to live.

Fight Pornography, PTA Urged

Camden, N.J.—(NC)—Bishop George H. Guilfoyle of Camden called on 1,000 delegates to the 32nd annual convention of diocesan parent-teachers' associations to take strong steps against pornographers.

Speaking in Atlantic City's convention hall, the bishop described the pornography situation as "alarming and even horrifying."

He pointed out that obscene materials formerly available to "those in the know" under the counter or in back rooms are now displayed on newsstands and advertised on theater billboards.

Party Plank 'Saddens' Bishop

Manchester, N.H.— (NC) —Manchester's Bishop Ernest J. Primeau announced here that he was "extremely saddened" by the New Hampshire Democratic state convention's call for the repeal of all abortion laws.

"I realize full well," the bishop continued, "that the will of a convention does not necessarily reflect the opinion of the individual members of that convention . . ."

"It must be reiterated that 'abortion-on-demand'—the repeal of the existing laws is tantamount to this—is not only against Catholic doctrine and morality, but is contrary to the commonweal."

NYC Bans Clinic Abortions

New York—(NC)—Abortions will be permitted here only in hospitals under a new ruling put into effect by the City Board of Health on Oct. 19.

The ban on abortion in doctor's offices and private clinics, according to a board spokesman, should lower the risk to the patient, and also tend to discourage out-of-city residents from seeking abortions here.

The day before the ruling was put in force, the health board reported that a 23-year-old Boston woman had died of internal bleeding after an abortion in a doctor's office. Dr. Milton Helpem, the city's chief medical examiner, said "This case points up the wisdom of the regulations which the Board of Health has promulgated."

The city's health board has reported 10 deaths related to abortion in the city since the law went into effect July 1.

New Bishops Appointed

Washington—(NC)—Bishop Joseph M. Mueller, head of the Diocese of Sioux City, Iowa, since 1948, has resigned at the age of 75. His auxiliary, Bishop Frank H. Greteman, 62, succeeds him.

Msgr. Walter F. Sullivan, 42, chancellor, has been named auxiliary bishop of Richmond, Va.

The changes were announced here by Archbishop Luigi Raimondi, apostolic delegate in the United States.

Fr. Haering Urges Optimism

Providence—(RNS)—A strong appeal for public support of Roman Catholic schools was made here by Father Bernard Haering, CSSR., internationally known moral theologian.

Keynoting the 24th annual New England Congress of Religious Education, Father Haering linked the preservation of educational freedom with support for Catholic schools.

Father Haering's address dealt with "Christian optimism" which, he said, is based on faith—"the attentive listening to all the words that come from God"—and courage, "the courage of Christ." Optimism, he added, is conditioned on "not taking ourselves and our accomplishments too seriously."

Monsignors Get New Title

Chicago —(RNS)— Roman Catholic monsignors are no longer "men of distinction" in the Chicago archdiocese.

By order of John Cardinal Cody of Chicago, the 137 monsignors will no longer be distinguished by "right reverends" and "very reverends," but will all fall into the common category of "reverend monsignor."

An edict by Pope Paul, dated March 28, 1968, abolished many titles and offices in the pontifical household. Monsignors have been known as domestic prelates (of the Pope's household) and papal chamberlains. They still form part of the "pontifical family," the papal decree stated, "but they are now honorary prelates and chaplains of the Pope."

CARDINAL VILLOT

Cardinal Villot
New Chamberlain

Vatican City — (NC)—Pope Paul VI has named his secretary of state, French Cardinal Jean Villot, to the vacant office of Chamberlain of the Holy Roman Church.

Between the death of one Pope and the election of another, the chamberlain is responsible for the goods and temporal rights of the Holy See and is assisted by the heads of the three orders of cardinals: cardinal bishops, cardinal priests and cardinal deacons.

When the Pope dies the cardinal chamberlain must take up residence in the Vatican and becomes responsible for its operation as well as that of the Lateran Palace and the papal summer residence at Castelgandolfo. He seals off the private apartments of the Pope and arranges for the funeral.

Cardinal Villot succeeds Cardinal Benedetto Aloisi-Massella, who died Sept. 30, after holding the office for 12 years.
