Locally Produced Film Describes Gestation Period

Rochester doctors and educators who wrote the curriculum on Christian sexuality for diocesan schools have helped produce a new teaching tool: a 26-minute movie entitled "A Family is Born".

The pre-natal sex education film will have a national premiere on Friday, Nov. 6, at Rochester's Highland Hospital where it was filmed during 5 days last July.

Dr. Howard T. Guerinot, who as chairman of the Committee on Sex Education for the diocese directed the effort to produce the school program on family life and sexuality in 1967-69, now used in most diocesan elementary and secondary schools, headed the group of physicians and nurses who spent six months preparing for the movie.

Doctor Guerinot said that the movie covers the entire process of gestation from the moment of conception through labor and delivery. Filmed in color in the obstetrical section of the hospital, and using charts, inanimate models as well as live action, the movie will be marketed internationally, he expects.

"It's a unique first for the Rochester medical community as well as for our Highland Hospital to produce a film that will surely attract wide attention and offer a valuable service. Our experience in the establishment of the sex education course for the Catholic schools was a factor in the production of the movie," he said.
