Owasco - Three cribs, the sound of toddlers at play, Iowa Standarized Reading Tests, concern, and hidden talents of parisbioners, all add up to a tu-toring program at Sacred Heart School here

The program doesn't have a formal name, but it's tackling a formidable job with consulta-tion available from a parishioner, Mrs. Eileen Crane, supervisor of student teaching at the State University at Cortland.

The need for a tutoring program came to the fore when a cut in funding under Title 1 eliminated the position of the teacher's aide who had been working with students needing individual help improving reading skills.

Mrs. Crane was the first to respond to the church bulletin announcement that tutors were needed. She explained, "Like Topsy, the tutoring program idea just sort of grew. I volun-teered, thinking I could help a couple of youngsters. First one, then another parishioner spoke up and now there are more than 40 students and 20 tutors and nursery volunteers involved?

Volunteers include young mothers, retired teachers, several professional men, and ability to work with a child over a long period of time. This is in addition to women who possess the specific training for testing, diagnosis, and consultative roles.

The nursery school setup is considered a key to the success of the tutoring program because the care of the workers' own children is important. The nursery has enabled young mothers to volunteer their time, confident that their infants and preschoolers were being well cared for in the nursery in the rectory basement, supervised by women from the parish.

This project is staffed by volunteers, but it is not hit and miss. Two women with special-ized training in the area of corrective reading were among the first to volunteer. Thus, testing could be administered to all the fourth through eighth graders and to young students referred by teachers. Help is available to those one and two years behind grade level in reading. Testing is repeated periodically to plot progress and detect potential reading difficulties before they develop into full blown problems.

As Mrs. Crane explained, "Testing is important as we must diagnose difficulties be-tive work. The most common problems we deal with are those of comprehension, building vocabulary, and developing concepts. Various methods of tutoring are suggested, based on the child's individual needs which are determined by his teacher and the volunteer reading consultant, and carried out by the assigned tutor."

Think of the months ahead. Mother's Day is May 9th, Father's Day, June 20. Why not send us your Mass requests right now? Simply list the intentions, and then you can rest assured the Masses will be offered by priests in India, the Holy Land and Ethiopia, who receive no other income. . ... Remind us to send you information about Gregorian Masses, too. You can arrange now to have Gregorian Masses offered for yourself, or for another, after death.

Have you ever wished you had a son a priest?

Now you can have a 'priest of your own'-and share forever in all the good he does. . . . Throughout the Near East each year, grateful, bishops ordain hundreds of new priests trained by people like you. . . . Their own families are too poor to support them in training, but good Catholics in America 'adopted' these seminarians, encouraged them all the way to ordination. . . . In some inspiring cases, this support was given at personal sacrifice. . . . How can you begin? Write to us now, We'll send you the name of a young seminarian who needs you, and he will write to you. Make the payments for his training to suit your convenience. ($15.00 a month, or $180 a year, or the total $1,080 all at once). Join your sacrifices to his, and at every Sacrifice of the Mass, he will always remember who made it possible.
