

Food for the Father

Lew Licari and Gary O'Brien unload donated food at Becket Hall. More than 900 cans of food for the poor were donated by the parishioners of Holy Cross and of Holy Name of Jesus churches in Rochester as part of a Fathers' Day project organized by Bill Buechel of Holy Cross to "honor God the Father."

Parish Councils Are Growing in Diocese

Fifty-seven parishes have active parish councils and another 54 have none at all, Msgr. Donald J. Mulcahy, reported to the diocesan Priests' Senate recently in the first progress statement on steps leading to establishment of the Diocesan Pastoral Council.

The remainder of the 160 parishes in the diocese acknowledged being in the planning stage, he said, or have made no report of their status to Auxiliary Bishop John E. McCafferty, who ordered the May survey as director of planning for the diocesan council. Msgr. Mulcahy is executive secretary of the planning program.

Bishop Joseph L. Hogan initiated the planning stages for the pastoral council by putting Bishop McCafferty and Msgr. Mulcahy in charge on March 29.

Shortly before that the Priests' Senate had strongly urged the Bishop to undertake formation of the pastoral body by regionalizing the diocese, mandating parish councils and establishing an education and formation committee to work out the shape and scope of the council-to-be.

Msgr. Mulcahy told the senators that a formation committee had begun its meetings. Following the suggestion of the Senate, he said, its initial goals are to help each parish establish or strengthen its own council. It will also encourage cooperation between parish councils and various parish committees presently existing within the same regions.

Members of the Formation Committee:

Lay: Mrs. Donald Stebbins, Horseheads; Martin O'Brien, Geneva; Richard J. McGill, Elmira; Dr. John Abbott and Edward Winterkorn, Rochester.

Sisters (appointed by the diocesan Sisters' Council): Sister Mary Anne Binzack, RSM., and Sister Barbara Kuhn, SSJ.

Clyde Credit Union Gets Development Grant

Grants totaling $1,700 were presented to the Clyde Federal Credit Union on Tuesday, June 22, by Father John Hempel for the Human Development Campaign Fund and by Father George Wyant for the Secular Mission.

The credit union, Father Hempel said, serves the needs of people, such as those on welfare, who cannot borrow from a bank because they are credit "risks."

"Besides filling this need," said Father Hempel, "the credit union also teaches its 233 members how to handle money and gives them more buying power."

Sister Alice Joins Mission

Sister Alice McLaughlin will be the first nun to join the diocese's Secular Mission, where she will handle liaison between projects in Yates, Ontario and Seneca Counties. The Secular Mission is a Catholic agency to initiate social action for the rural poor.

In a related appointment, Sister Annette Truby will leave St. Bridget's parish to join the Office of Human Development. She will take over her new office on July 1.

Sister McLaughlin will coordinate programs of the Houses of Concern in Penn Yan and Seneca Falls and the Rushville Clinic.
