JOHN DOSER

Scholastic Notebook

An Oswego State sophomore from Geneva hopes to play major league baseball.

He's Allie Klestinec, 19, former DeSales High School athlete who holds the Saints' all-time school basketball scoring record of 42 points in a single game.

Klestinec made the All-State University Conference baseball team this spring after hitting .410. He helped the Lakers to a 14-6 record and was the first choice of coaches for an outfield spot on the SUNY dream team.

Klestinec's dad played the outfield for Auburn and Geneva in the old Brooklyn Dodgers organization. Allie wants his chance too, but he'll have to wait two, possibly four more years.

He's determined to finish college (a sociology major, physical education minor) and then he is ripe for the military draft.

At DeSales Allie played every position and once pitched a no-hitter against Mynderse Academy although he lost, 1-0. (For trivia buffs — Allie scored his 42 against Marcus Whitman.)

ANOTHER DE SALES hero, Mark McCheyne, All Wayne-Finger Lakes Conference offensive center and linebacker, will attend RIT this fall.

McCheyne, a 5-10, 215 pounder, plans on an accounting major. He was accepted at Ithaca and Alfred and selected RIT on the basis of its new school, high scholastic rating and because Tom Coughlin is the football coach.

Coughlin is a former star athlete at neighboring Waterloo Central who went on to play varsity wingback for coach Ben Schwartzwalder at Syracuse University.

IT'S NOW OFFICIAL. The Cardinal Mooney baseball statistics produced by scorekeeper Larry Moriarity have been released.

There are more than 100 different categories where Moriarity computed individual and total (team) figures.

The unbeaten Cards (22-0) won the City-Catholic League championship and Moriarity exemplifies the Cards' case for thoroughness.

For example, Moriarity stars include players called up to the varsity from the junior varsity — but who made no appearances. Better luck next season to Joe Germano, Wayne Healy and Tom Roach.

NOTEBOOK — Crowd control, a much-debated topic among coaches and administrators, seems to be improving . . . most of the problems result from "out-of-school" youth attending school athletic events — school officials believe . . .

Cardinal Mooney's power fitness camp which opens Aug. 15 is an "ecumenical" thing . . . Besides Mooney's Tony Merola, Jefferson's Dick Cerone, Greece Arcadia's Ben Gioseffi and Greece Athena's Bill Wilt will also handle the coaching chores.

Jim Harrington, one of Mooney's first football heroes, will teach psychology and assist in football and track at his alma mater.

Bob Masiulis, a Bishop Kearney graduate, won recent shot put and discuss honors (45-1 and 132-9, respectively) at a Rochester Track Club meet at RIT . . .

Tim Smith was named MVP at Christ The King high school basketball awards picnic . . . Tom Hanney won the sportsmanship award and Al Schmitz was named team captain for 71-72 . . .
