

SARAH CHILD
All In The Family

In four months our youngest will be two years old

I am not one ordinarily to wish a child be anything but the age he is at the moment. There are, however, certain distressing habits that go with the 18 through 24 month old period that I am beginning to believe I can do without. This is particularly true since I have gone through these periods twice previously.

The notion has struck me before, but incidents of this past week have served to reinforce the idea with monotonously compelling force.

It may have started on Monday about noon when I ran whimpering to my neighbor with number three in my arms. While the neighbor called the doctor's office I simultaneously directed the other two children to go to a second neighbor's and beseeched the baby to get her head off my chest, open her eyes and look at me.

The doctor was reassuring after the examination. If it was a concussion it was only a mild one and obviously she had not climbed to the very top of the ladder when she had fallen to the concrete floor of the garage below.

Conscience-stricken I explained that one minute she had been under the sprinkler. The next she was in the garage. Why was the ladder out? The three-year-old had dragged it out of storage to eat his lunch on the top—what else?

The three-year-old and his baby sister do tend to work in tandem. He has taught her everything he knows and under such superb tutelage she has originated a few tricks of her own.

The lock on the screen door is broken, for example, so we replaced it with a hook and eye well out of baby's reach. Thoughtfully she searched for the yard stick and with careful maneuvering was able to lift the hook from its impediment.

Obviously it was her smart week. That same night she discovered that by pulling the dining room chair to the kitchen door she could reach the knob which opens easily.

On Tuesday she pulled the ribbon out of the typewriter and ate half a tube of toothpaste. Wednesday she reserved

Old Salt Set
For Teen Concert

Old Salt, the area folk group of Peter Pierce and Dick Lechorn will be featured at Teen League's rock-folk concert Epitaph, slated to be held at Mendon Ponds Park, Friday, Aug. 27, starting at 1 p.m.

The free concert has been billed as a goodbye to summer, and has been organized entirely by Rochester area high school students through Teen League.

The rock portion of the festival, from 5-10:30 p.m., will feature Rain, Joshua, Monolith and Crackers.

NEWS DEADLINE

A reminder that Courier-Journal news deadline is noon Thursday for the following Wednesday's newspaper.

VD Clinic Schedule Changed

The Monroe County Department of Health has revised the schedule of the venereal disease and foreign travel immunization clinics, it was announced by Dr. Glenn E. Haughie, deputy county health director.

The new hours of the venereal disease clinic will be from 1:30 to 6 p.m. on Mondays and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays.

The new hours of the foreign travel immunization clinic will be from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

Dr. Haughie said the clinic hours are being revised to provide better service. The hours of the venereal disease clinic are broadened to enable diagnosis and treatment of an increasing number of VD cases. Conversely, the schedule of the foreign travel immunization clinic reflects a decrease in demand for such immunizations.

Both clinics are conducted at the Monroe County Health and Social Services Building at 111 Westfall Road.

No appointment is necessary for the venereal disease clinic and there is no service fee. Diagnosis and treatment are provided in confidence.

An appointment is necessary for attendance at the foreign travel immunization clinic. A fee of $4 is charged.

Seton Ball Set
For Nov. 20

The 16th annual Seton Charity Ball has been scheduled for Nov. 20 at the Holiday Inn downtown. Mrs. Michael Culhane is general chairman; Mrs. Paul Brescia, chairman of arrangements, and Mrs. Mark Ortelee, chairman of benefactors.

Other committee heads are Mrs. Francis P. Marino, Mrs. Philip Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Edward Thaney, Mrs. Victor Haed, Mrs. Mark Touhey, Jr., Mrs. Paul Mallon, Mrs. Bernard P. Soehner, Mrs. Robert T. Howe and Mrs. Joseph R. Vasile.

Hicks
Home Heating Int.
271-9879 271-4658

Become A
Receptionist
VOICE-CHARM
SWITCHBOARD
TYPING
OFFICE
GENERAL
MINI COURSES LOW TUITION
DAY & EVENING CLASSES
546-6592
If No Answer Call 381-1619
PBX
RECEPTIONIST
SCHOOL
534 GRANITE BLDG.
130 MAIN E. ROCHESTER, N.Y.

GREECE
MONTESSORI SCHOOL
485 HOLMES RD.
Now accepting 2 1/2 - 4 year olds
Call 227-2977 or Write c/o Box 2764
227-4830 Rochester, New York 14626

COEDUCATIONAL
GANNON COLLEGE
Erie, Pennsylvania 16501
LIBERAL ARTS and SCIENCES

More individual classroom attention is the main reason why many students choose Gannon. You, too, will appreciate this difference.

FULLY ACCREDITED

Undergraduate Degrees

- Liberal Arts
- Natural Sciences
- Business Administration
- Teacher Education
- Electrical Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Earth Science
- Fine Arts

Graduate Degrees

- Science Education
- English
- Education
- Engineering
- Guidance — Counseling
- Social Sciences
- Business Administration
- Secondary Education

FOR INFORMATION WRITE:
Registrar, Gannon College Erie, Pa. 16501