Holy Angels Guild Plans Benefit

Bishop Joseph L. Hogan will be guest of honor at the annual benefit supper dance given by Holy Angels Guild.

The event is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 24, at the Hospitality House, Penfield Road. Mrs. Fred Trotter and Mrs. Theodore Strohmeyer are cochairmen.

The guild, an adjunct of Holy Angels Home on Winton Road, is headed by Miss Clara Ter-motto. Other officers are Mrs. John White and Mrs. Alfred Mickolichik, vice presidents; Mrs. John Staub and Miss Josephine Flora, secretaries; Miss Mary Syracuse, treasurer, and Mrs. Trotter, her assistant.

Women's Club To Hold Tea

Twelve gaily decorated booths, arranged in-the-round and dubbed the "Circle of Service," will feature the Catholic Women's Club of Rochester's opening meeting and get-acquainted tea at St. Thomas More Church auditorium Sunday, Oct. 10.

Each booth will illustrate one of the club's service projects, and the project chairman will explain operations and accept additional volunteers.

"Community service is the theme of the 1971-72 club year," said Mrs. Lewis J. Boyce, president, "with accent on the services which club members are already rendering to the community, such as aiding in some parish schools and libraries, raising funds for the scholarships awarded annually, and mission work. New to the group this year are committees working on the Right-to-Life Committee, Camp Stella Maris, the sewing of Mass vestments and Junior Membership."

He's Donated 10 Gallons Of Blood

Hornell—Robert Griswold of 47 Bennett St., has achieved quite a record at the Red Cross Blood Bank. He recently made his 80th donation to the blood drive—a total ten gallons.

Griswold is physical director of the YMCA here in Hornell and he and his wife, Genevieve, are the parents of 11 children, the oldest presently attending Notre Dame University. They are active parishioners of St. Ann's Church and Genevieve still finds time to teach in the CCD program here.

Three Bishops To Preach At Triduum

A triduum in honor of Mary, Queen of the Most Holy Rosary, will open tomorrow night at Corpus Christi Church, with three bishops scheduled as preachers.

Services at 7:45 each evening Oct. 7-9 will consist of rosary, sermon and benediction, with congregational singing. The children's choir of the parish also will sing.

Bishop Joseph L. Hogan will give the sermon tomorrow. On successive nights, Bishops James E. Kearney and Dennis W. Hickey will preach.

The triduum was arranged by the parish liturgy committee, of which Lawrence E. Unger is chairman and Miss Mary Jane Berry, secretary.

Others on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDuffie, Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, William McCarthy, James Cox, William McPadden, Miss Nan Wooden; Sisters Marilyn Pray and Dorothy Meisenzahl, Msgr. John E. Maney and Father Paul McCabe.

dor, OFM, at St. Hyacinth's parish in Auburn.

Father Young arrived last week from an 11-year assignment in Amami Oshima, off the coast of Japan.

Father Swizdor, a native Auburnian, left his six-year post as assistant pastor of St. Hyacinth's to become pastor of St. Anthony's parish in Ranshaw, Pa., in the Diocese of Harrisburg. He was ordained in 1943.

Ordained in the same year, Father Damien J. Veary, SS.CC. (Fathers of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary), has assumed new duties as assistant of Sts. Peter and Paul parish, Rochester. He comes as no stranger to the diocese, having preached retreats in the area and having done fill-in work at Our Lady of Victory parish, Rochester. This is his first permanent assignment, however, in the diocese.

Father Veary was a chaplain during the Korean War, has served as director of vocations for his Order, and most recently has been assistant pastor of St. Francis de Sales, St. Louis, Mo.
