Diocese Defends Tax Exemption

It is fundamental to the American system that government may neither finance nor tax religious activities, the diocesan chancellor pointed out last week to the Citizen's Committee on Tax exemption.

"The history of our country shows that fiscal separation has always been considered one of the most fundamental aspects of Church-State separation," Father James M. Moynihan wrote in a position paper submitted at a City Hall hearing.

The committee, appointed last June by Mayor Stephen May, heard representatives of the Boy Scouts, Masonic Temple, YWCA and other groups explain community service aspects of their activities.

Father Moynihan's paper said of such organizations that "it is at least generally true that the exemptions given them by Congress are expressions of governmental approval and favor for their exempt purposes."

But in the case of churches, "such exemptions are expressions of governmental neutrality"

On behalf of Bishop Joseph L. Hogan and the Pastoral Office, William A. Lang presented a financial evaluation of the services performed by the church through its schools and innercity work. Should a new burden fall on Catholics already supporting two school systems, the parochial schools likely would be forced out of business, Lang said.

In that event, he declared, the public generally would have to pay $20 million more for education.

Referring to the constitutional guarantee of freedom of religion, Lang described taxation as "one of the most insidious means of control."

"Historically, charitable institutions and religious organizations have not been taxed," he added, "because they are not in the business of making money."

Speaking for an organization called Allied Landlords for Equal Rights Today, Mrs. Mary Grooms told the committee that if the property tax is to be maintained its field must be broadened. It has been reported that 23 per cent of all city property is tax exempt.

In his paper, Father Moynihan spoke of "misleading statistics" and said that "churchheld property in proportion to other exempt property is very small and is in fact decreasing." An element in this situation, he explained, is the increasing amount and value of tax-exempt federal, state and municipal property.

He detailed the decline of the real property tax as a source of revenue, stated that property held by all the churches in Rochester constituted but three per cent of the total real estate in the city and concluded that "no substantial revenue is lost by continuing the practice of religious tax exemption."

Cooling Off Period Urged at St. Andrew's

The diocesan pastoral office has advised a cooling off period for the turmoil at St. Andrew's parish.

Differences of opinion climaxed last week when Sister Mary Ellen, school principal and Father Thomas W. Burr, assistant pastor, resigned in a dispute with the pastor, Father Bernard Kuchman.

Auxiliary Bishop Dennis W. Hickey said he has talked to both factions and that the Chancery's attitude is that neither side has been in the job long enough and should therefore give each other more time to resolve their personality problems.

Father Kuchman replaced Father Charles J. McCarthy who died in July.

CARDINAL DIES

Madrid — (RNS) — Cardinal Fernando Quiroga y Palcíos, Archbishop of Santiago de Compostela, Spain, died here Dec. 7. He was 71. His death reduced the number of cardinals to 120.

It would be well, Bishop Hickey continued, if Father Kuchman were given more time in view of the depth of emotion involved. A cooling off period is urged in the hopes that a moral, logical solution will come out of a calm, rational approach, he said.

Father Burr has been reassigned to St. Ambrose Parish.

At the time the Courier-Journal went to press, Sister Ellen's future assignment was still under consideration according to a spokesman at the Sisters of Mercy Motherhouse,
