SISTER MARY

Waterloo Principal Innovative

Waterloo — Since assuming the principalship at St. Mary's School in Waterloo in September, Sister Mary, Cumbo has introduced the concept of departmentalization into the school program. This emphasis involves a shift from the self-contained classroom to utilization of teachers with specializations in a particular subject at more than one grade level.

This flexibility in staff assignments offers the teacher the challenge of preparing and teaching her specialty at various grade levels. In addition to sharing special background with more students, it permits variety for student as well as teacher.

Sister Mary, who was a math major at Nazareth college, received a master's degree in math at Notre Dame this past summer. She previously taught junior high math at Our Lady of Lourdes School in Rochester. Sister also is the 8th grade homeroom teacher in addition to 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grade math.

offered a teacher training series for elementary CCD teachers, a program for middle school teachers, and have been involved with the Auburn High School program. The CEDAR representatives look to expanding program and consultation services into the area of adult education as soon as possible. One of the new offerings suggested included assistance to women interested in initiating prayer study groups in their homes.

The team extended an invitation for more utilization of the audiovisual resources available through offices in the St. Aloysius School building on Van Anden Street, Auburn.

Westbury, N.Y. (RNS) — Members of the Catholic Traditionalist Movement observed the First Sunday of Advent (Nov. 28) with three "old-order Latin Masses" at Ave Maria Chapel here, thus defying a U.S. bishops' deadline for implementation of the New Order of the Mass.

An estimated 1,000 persons attended the three Masses at the Ave Maria Chapel headquarters, a CTM spokesman said.
