

Second-grader Gladys Magee reads the riddle, "What animal needs oiling?" to pupils in Janice Keymel's classroom. The answer: "A mouse, because it squeaks." (One reply went like this: "A mouse." "Why?" "Because I heard it before.")

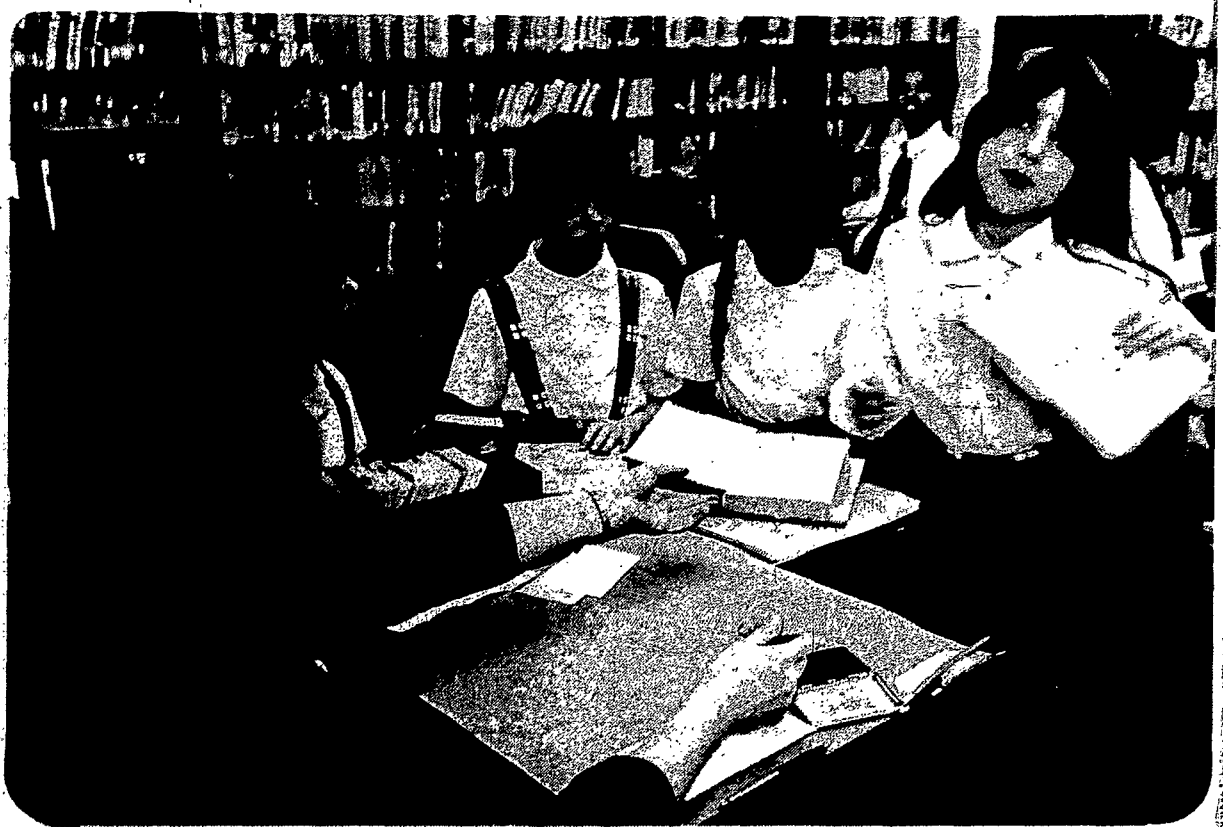

Text and Photos by Laurence E. Keefe

Sister Benjamin helps first-grader Jeffrey Logan learn to write in separate two room building.

Tape in resource center guides work of Todd Rose, left, and Daniel Doucette.

Mrs. Veronica Casaceli checks out books in school library.