

From Monsters to Stitches

The Sisters of St. Joseph will again run a recreation and enrichment program for 3½ weeks this coming summer starting July 5.

Students from third through eighth grade who sign up will see "a 'monster' so small you can't see it" in the science class, and will be kept "in stitches" by the sewing class.

Other courses offered will be in ceramics, art, crafts, creative expression, personal typing, and guitar.

Classes will be held at three locations: St. Pius the Tenth school, Nazareth Motherhouse, and Sacred Heart Cathedral school.

Registration will be the week of May 1.
