

Jesus Saves

The graffiti on this highway plaque on Route 21 north of Hornell assumed new meaning at the height of last week's flood. While residents were boiling water for drinking and cooking purposes, Gary Peterson of Hornell turned to nature for his supply. He explained he got the idea from those who experienced the area's last great flood, back in 1935.

Storm Coverage

Most of the Courier-Journal editorial staff is in the Southern Tier covering the story of the flood.

Watch for exclusive coverage of the storm in an extraordinary issue of the Courier, in your mailbox on Saturday.