

June 26, 1972

Sept. 20, 1972

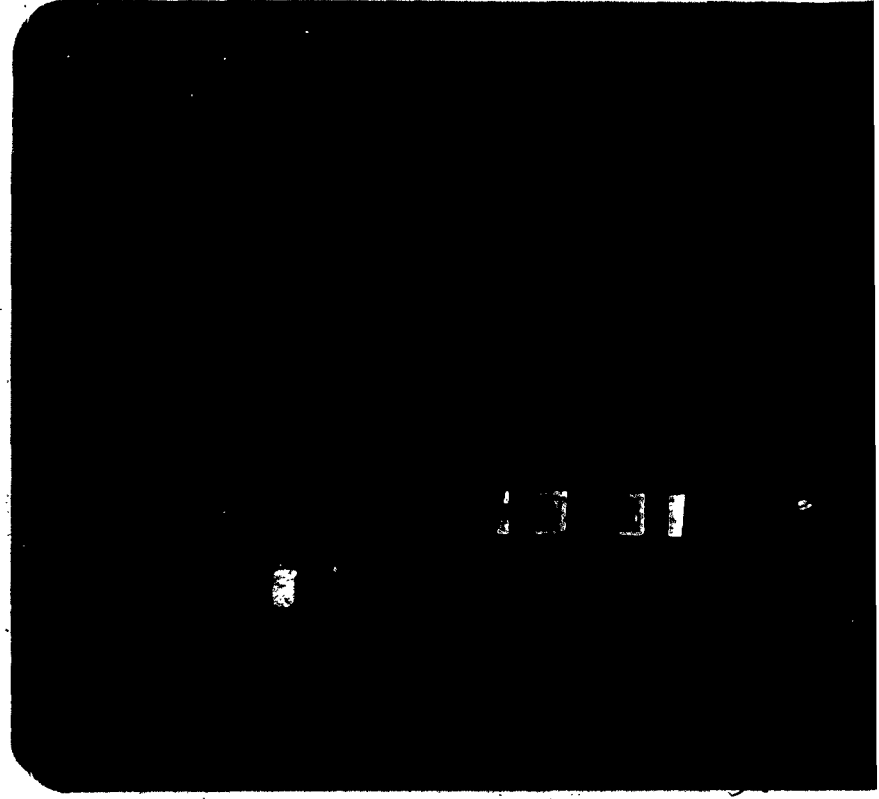

THE FLOOD F

June 26, 1972

Sept. 20, 1972

Corning's Roosevelt Street, &

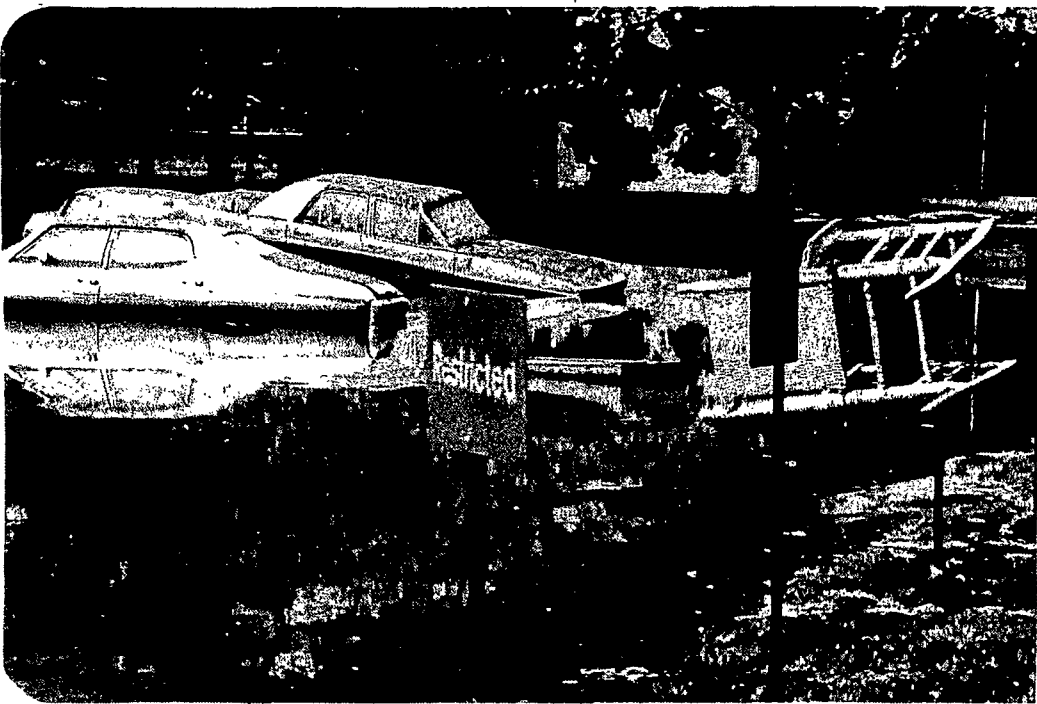

Text by Carmen Viglucci
Photos by Laurence E. Keefe

The people of the Southern Tier haven't let the haymaker punch flung by Hurricane Agnes keep them down. The photos at left are self-explanatory in showing the results of struggling back at St. Patrick's School, St. Vincent's Church, and Corning Glass.

But there is a long road to go and with winter looming just ahead the need for help is imminent for those who must make secure their homes and protect their children.

The photos here show not only the progress that has been made but also the staggering job ahead. Their purpose is to point out that progress is possible and becomes

June 26, 1972

Sept. 20, 1972

