Fisher Alters
Admissions
Schedules

Potential college students may now apply and be admitted to St. John Fisher College up to two years before they plan to attend.

Guidelines for this deferred admissions procedure were announced last week by Frank G. Krivo, vice president for college development.

Krivo commented that Fisher's latest admissions procedures underscore a "commitment to break the lock-step approach in education that requires students to enter college three months after graduation from high school."
