

Procession, above, goes to the font, led by Father Brickler who greeted the families at the church door where he blessed the forehead; left, of Fabian Provenza, held by his godmother Connie Provenza. Below, Father Brickler reaches for a trace of the oils used in the rite.

The essence of Baptism will never change.

The cruet, above, holding the baptismal water catches lights from the church altar. Father Brickler, right, touches a match to the paschal candle which will kindle the baptismal candles, symbols of a new light.