DAY CARE CENTER RECEIVES GRANTS

Penn Yan — Two donations have been made to the Yates Day Care Center in Penn Yan by the Diocese of Rochester. The gifts, one of $500 from the Small Grant Fund of the Secular Mission, and one of $850 from the Office of Human Development, were made through St. Michael's Parish Human Development Committee.

The Yates Day Care Center serves pre-school children of working parents, offering a program of education, nutrition, indoor and outdoor play and individual attention. The center, directed by Mrs. Malcolm Covert is concerned with enhancing the development of each child's potential.

"Everyone involved with the work of the day care center is grateful for this very tangible help from the Diocese of Rochester and also for the attitude of concern on the part of St. Michael's Human Development Committee members," according to Mrs. Edward Bolger, corresponding secretary of the Yates Day Care Center's board of directors.

NURSERY SCHOOL

Auburn — Curriculum and staff development for the new Holy Family nursery school is progressing satisfactorily according to Msgr. Joseph J. Sullivan, pastor of the parish.

Msgr. Sullivan recently announced that Diane Miner, a graduate of Oswego State with a B.A. in elementary education, will head the staff assisted by Mrs. Edward Giannino and Miss Margery Curtis.

Mrs. Giannino has studied at Auburn Community College and Oswego and has been a teacher's aide for three years at Casey Park school. Miss Curtis has an associate degree in nursery school education and has been a teacher in the Holy Family pre-school CCD program.

The nursery school will be open from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Both 3 and 4-year-olds may attend three or five sessions weekly. Volunteer mothers and students from Auburn Community College will also assist in the program.

Persons interested may contact Mrs. John Ransick, 25 Drummond St. Enrollment is open to families from the entire community.

The staff will accept donations of materials and supplies for use in the program.
