

Deaf Students Plan Play

Students at the Rochester School for the Deaf, 1545 St. Paul St., will present their annual Christmas play, "The Littlest Angel," Wednesday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The play, based on the popular children's story, is about a little girl who goes to Heaven but can't seem to do anything right while she's there. She creates havoc with the angels and worries because she has no gift to give the new Christ child. Her only possession is a small box of toys. God chooses her gift of toys to give to the Child and the littlest angel learns the true meaning of giving.

The play will be a multi-media event, according to its director, David Runzo.

"We are incorporating a slide presentation into the play. The students are taking their own pictures which will be coordinated by RSD's Instructional Media Center," he said.

Besides taking pictures, the deaf students are also making the slides, designing and sewing their own costumes and constructing scenery.

Students featured in the play are:

James Curry, Walter Parent, Alan Rodell, Karen Kenney, Roberta Merrill, Debbie Metzger, Dorothy Wilkins and Donna Melligan.

Rochester Savings Bank • providing for your future

The most important thing you can do for the most important new person in your life is—provide for his (or her) future.

We can help. We've been providing for people's futures since way back in the past (1831, to be exact).

We offer savings accounts that help you save up for the endless things your new arrival will need. And we pay top rates. No wonder more people save more money at Rochester Savings Bank than at any other savings institution in town.

If bills do pile up, we make Insured Personal Savings

Loans—at low cost.

If your New Addition means a new addition to your house, we offer Property Improvement Loans.

If your bigger family calls for a new home, we make mortgage loans.

And, of course, we offer low-cost Savings Bank Life Insurance.

"Saving" means providing for the future. Rochester Savings Bank means we help provide for your future.

And your family's.

YOU GET THE MOST FROM THE "FIRST"
