

Get 'personal' with your bath, use creative decorating ideas

Like any other room in a home, the bath can be decorated to express one's personality. Here's how one bath became both attractive and easy to care for.

A built-in bench is covered with American Olean's Redi-Set ceramic tile, which means that the spaces between the tiles are grouted with a special white silicone rubber which will not crack, stain or mildew. The rear tub wall is aglow with Aruba Red crackle-glass Caribbean ceramic tile; the floor is random-set green slate.

If your tastes are modern, the decorating scheme may be for you. The shower curtain and towels are a bold geometric print done in vivid red and purple. These colors are echoed in the huge stylized flower painting on the wall. The white vinyl pad on the bench invites basking under the overhead sunlamps. Shiny chrome containers hold tissues and bright dried flowers.

Are you a traveler? Then display those souvenirs of your African safari. Hand-made mats, baskets and pottery, and native wood carvings would be authentic ethnic touches. A zebra print shower curtain and brown and black towels would contrast with the bright background.

Do you love gardening? Then transform the bath into a mini-conservatory. Plants will thrive in the humid atmosphere, especially if you use Gro-Lights in the overhead fixture. That bench will hold lots of potted plants. Hang a blooming basket from the shower rail and underscore your garden theme with posy-printed towels and shower curtain.

See, it's easy to individualize the room with your own eye-catching linens and accessories. The basics are here: good layout and easy-care surfaces (the porcelain fixtures and ceramic tile sponge clean with a squirt of liquid cleaner). All you add are imagination and details.
