Passover Begins

Tomorrow evening the holy season of the Passover begins. In Jewish homes throughout the world, a table, such as this one prepared by Mrs. Sarah Durnan, will be the focal point for the family celebration of the liberation of the Hebrews from Egypt. A meal called a Seder will be eaten and the story of God's goodness to the Chosen people will be retold. It was at just such a celebration of the Passover that Jesus instituted the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist.

Deadline

Calendar items should be mailed to the Courier-Journal Calendar Desk, 67 Chestnut St., Rochester, N.Y. 14604. Deadline is Wednesday noon, one week ahead of the publication date.

World Hunger, HDC Project

Elmira — World Hunger is the major concern of the Human Development Committee at St. Peter and Paul Church.

According to Mrs. Jesse L. Knox, a member of the committee, a monthly Mass on the theme will be celebrated with donations of canned goods accepted at the liturgy.

The basement of the rectory will be used as a Food Bank for the needy.

In other committee business it was decided to publish a monthly newsletter and make an appeal for volunteers for committee projects.

Among those projects are visiting the aged and infirm in nursing homes.

James McGann is chairman of the committee.

PSALMIC MUSIC

Karl Hass will examine the influence of great biblical poems on the literature of vocal and instrumental music, on Monday, March 24. The program is entitled From the Book of Psalms and is designed to note the beginning of Holy Week. Hass's programs are broadcast over WBFB, FM, in Rochester.
