Art, according to Webster's dictionary is human creativity, a skill, a making of things that have form and beauty.

During the week of April 14 Our Lady of Mercy High School overflowed with human creativity and skills. From the paintings and sketches, which decorated its corridors to the auditorium performances, Mercy experienced the total art spectrum.

Instrumental concertos, dances, drama acts, voice solos, fashion shows, rock concerts, and judo were a few of the events that entertained students and faculty throughout the week.

Many high school and area artists participated in the cultural exchange. There were singers from Aquinas; the McQuaid String Band; the Webster Shroeder High School rock ensemble; Botsford's Ballet; Barley School of Music Jazz Ensemble, and folk singer JoAnne Hartman.

Mercy's art week performances were summed up by sophomore Jane Mott, "I couldn't pick a favorite, they were all fantastic."

Student Places In Drum Contest

Bishop Kearney freshman Douglas Morrow walked off with third place honors in the Monroe County Bicentennial Commission's Drum Competition held at Xerox Square on Saturday, April 12.

First place was captured by Jacquelin DeWald from Webster Junior High School while David Galligan a freshman at Greece Arcadia took second.

The winners will receive their awards at a festival to be held at Brockport State University, on July 19.
