

Contest Winners

Photo by Susan McKinney

Donna Ringholz, left, and Paula Sciscioli, students at Holy Apostles School, proudly display their winning entries in the Monroe County American Legion's poster contest. The theme of the contest, held in conjunction with the Rochester Police Department and the Monroe County Sheriff's Department was, "What the Police Officer Means to Me." Winning entries from Rochester Schools will be displayed at the Public Safety Building. Standing behind the winners are from left to right, Michael DePalma, Monroe County Commander of the American Legion; Officer Cutrono, Rochester Police Department; Chief Deputy Cellura of the Sheriff's Department; Henry Quinn, American Legion; Sgt. Wilsey, Sheriff's Department, and officer Piacelli, Rochester Police Department.
