CYO 'Search' Growing

The CYO Search Weekend is becoming increasingly popular among teenage youth groups. During May, three different youth groups discovered "Search." Thirty from St. Ambrose participated in a weekend at Silver Lake, 23 from Immaculate Conception at Stella Maris and 23 from Holy Cross (Dryden) at Camp Barton on Seneca Lake. More than a dozen adult advisers participated.

Search is a two-day, away-from-home experience for teenage youth groups. They aim to foster the kind of group development that encourages individual growth, i.e. to help build

Christian community.

The first evening of Search is designed to break down artificial barriers, to discuss what each person hopes to get out of the Search and to have some fun in the process. The second day really zeroes in on what community is all about — through a variety of group experiences, games, tasks and discussions. The final morning focuses on the question, "Where do we go from here — as a group?"

While Search does not magically produce an instant, it is intended to provide a solid base and a common experience upon which a genuine Christian community can be built. Youth groups at parishes or other community centers who are interested in learning more about CYO Search Weekends should call 454-2030.

VFW Cites 79 Students

The Monroe County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars, entertained 79 high school students at dinner May 1 in the Chamber of Commerce.

The Loyalty Day program included the presentation of the Voice of Democracy award to Kevin Hasson, a Bishop Kearney senior. The competition he won locally offers several substantial scholarships at the national level. Contestants submitted recorded scripts for broadcasting on the theme, "My Responsibility as a Citizen." Hasson, a member of Kearney's debating team, has won the county contest three times.

Merit awards were given to two students chosen by the faculty at each of the county's 39 high schools. Aquinas sent Kevin Skerrett and Juan Navarro; Bishop Kearney, Mary Jean Quinn and Terry Joseph Principe; Cardinal Mooney, Mary Anne McCarthy and Joseph Tobin; McQuaid, Larry R. Conley and Mike C. Seibert; Nazareth Academy, Ann Finewood and Antonia Carfagna; Our Lady of Mercy, Carol Bloccchi and Gloria Donadio; St. Agnes, Alba Ragusa and Kathryn Burke.

Parish Sets Farewell Party

Holy Redeemer parishioners will bid goodbye to their pastor and his associate at a dinner Thursday night, June 19, and at a reception the following Sunday afternoon, June 22.

Msgr. Joseph E. Vogt, pastor for 20 years, is retiring, and Father Paul Schnacky, associate pastor for 10 years, awaits reassignment.

The dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. June 1, at Sweet's Farm, 767 Holt Road, Webster. Late reservations may be made today by calling the rectory, 544-2442. The public reception will be held in the school hall from 3 until 5 p.m. June 22.

East, but at this writing they were floundering in last place and owned the distinction of losing six straight in the month of May, the club's longest losing streak in seven years. They also were talking to every one of the other 11 clubs in the AL, which made them eligible for a panic trade. In the National League East the Cubs were attracting some serious believers. It is 30 years since the Cubs won a pennant, and nobody expected them to get one this season. It was, obviously and admittedly, a "building" year, as the football people say. Meaning they would make plenty of mistakes and lose a lot but hope to develop some very green but very promising young talent. Just surviving after two months would be a minor miracle; but leading the division was something else. Nobody yet really expects them to win the East, but they are no longer the butts of jokes, and the Vegas line on their making it to the World Series has been hacked from 150 to 1 down to 40 to 1. Elsewhere, it was business as usual, with the Dodgers ruling the NL West, despite those early losses to Cincinnati and Oakland leading the formful parade in the AL West, where the standings almost exactly reflected the pre-season odds.

Quote and Unquote: Montreal manager Gene Mauch, on Richie Allen: "He'd better play baseball. He can support his horses a lot better than they can support him."

Red Wing rookie Taylor Duncan, after some spectacular performances under pressure at the plate: "I don't tighten up. Either you do it or you don't. The Lord is either with you or He's not, and I'm just thankful for what He's done for me."

Hopscotching The Sports Beat Pro basketball and hockey are barely history, and the baseball season is already one-third through with its regular schedule. Buffalo Sabres hockey fans must be in shock, with Rick Dudley defecting only one day after the Stanley Cup loss, and only one day before Sabres management announced ticket price increases from $1 to $2 per seat, with a new scale of $5 to $10. What burned Buffalo general manager Punch Imlach was learning of Dudley's defection through his agent, and discovering he had made the commitment in mid-season. One day later, the Philadelphia 76'ers were dealing over $1 million to a high school player... and the headline in the New York News read: "PELE OK'S $4.75 MILLION SOCCER CONTRACT."
