

AS I SEE IT

Pat Costa

Now that the kids are on vacation and sleeping in mornings is possible, if not probable, I've been scanning the late night rosters of local stations. The prospects, as any night hawk can testify, are dismal.

Channel 8 and Johnny Carson lost their glitter long ago, Channel 10 is showing the scope of its imagination by continuing "The Untouchables" and Channel 13 varies from not bad (some of the World Wide mysteries) to quite bad (repeats of those Alan King specials on sex, weight reduction, for example).

Channel 21 comes up with a decent movie every so often but I do think they could put away the Topper series for a while.

Was about to give up when I discovered that the new 12 inch black and white C.E. we purchased for the bedroom was pulling in Channels 3, 4, 5 and 7 without benefit of aerial or cable.

Some months ago before the TV acquisition I was drooling into my TV Guide upon discovering that Syracuse's Channel 5 (WHEN-TV) was showing one of my all time favorite musicals "Meet Me in St. Louis".

I haven't seen it scheduled again although I'm hoping against hope. Channel 5, however, does seem the best bet for late movies. In one week their schedule ran like this: Debbie Reynolds and Cliff Robertson in "My Six Loves", Jack Palance and Anthony Perkins in "The Lonely Man", Frank Sinatra and Kathryn Crayson in "The Kissing Bandit", Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelley, Esther Williams in "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" Frank and Debbie again in the "The Tender Trap", the Rat Pack in "Ocean's 11" and Frank and Trevor Howard in "Von Ryan's Express."

No four-star classics in the bunch but I'll take them over Elliott Ness any time.

We've been enjoying the mini-series "Moses" starring Bert Lancaster that has replaced the "Carol Burnett Show" for the summer. Obviously so are a lot of other people, according to the ratings. Lancaster's Moses doesn't talk much, finding it difficult to put his thoughts in word. He must rely on his brother Aaron played by Anthony Quayle to meet the Pharaoh head on, to stir the slaves to action. This is ironic in that Lancaster is probably one of the more articulate guests among actors who show up on talk shows. There are still several episodes for those who want to tune in. And it's not a bad way to stimulate interest in the Bible.

Area Youth Ministry will inaugurate beginner's photography classes on July 15. Classes will last for 10 weeks, Tuesdays from 6:30 to 9 p.m. for youth aged 13-21 at the AYM Photographic Center in the basement of Dewey Ave. Presbyterian Church, 1261 Dewey Ave.

Participants will be taught the basic fundamentals of black and white photography including shooting, developing, and mounting of photographs. Instructor is Nicholas DiStasio, an employe of Eastman Kodak Co. and AYM photography instructor since 1972.

Cameras are provided for the course. This photography program is limited to the first eight students registering with AYM. For information on cost or to register, the Area Youth Ministry numbers are 254-6018 or 461-2121.

AYM offices are in the Parish House of Sacred Heart Cathedral and at 292 Parkway.
