Freshman's Big Day . . .

A junior portrays a nervous freshman as she tells her woes to a "big sister" during skit put on by the juniors.

Bon Appetit

By JOAN M. SMITH

Who hasn't dreamed of sipping wine at a French cafe, or feasting amidst the splendor of an English dining hall, or sampling the culinary delights of an oriental tea house.

Well, dreams do materialize, and it happens here in Rochester where through the After Dark Association and the Catholic high schools "dining out" is made an enjoyable and economical experience.

The dinner club booklet which is compiled of coupons for The Shakespeare, Spring House, Depot, Arigato, and many other restaurants is offered to the public by Aquinas, Bishop Kearney, Cardinal Mooney, Our Lady of Mercy, St. Agnes high schools, and Nazareth College.

This is the fifth year the high schools have been involved in this particular project, and they have had great success. Even before school reopened in September students were busy promoting the 1975-76 dinner club book for their individual high schools. Their enthusiasm is evident in the total raised last year, $45,600, which helped offset various school expenses, and helped with tuition stabilization.

The inflation which is running rampant through the food stores has affected the homes menus of many Americans. Surprisingly, dining out can be economical as well as an adventure.

John Needs a Friend . . .

He finds one in his parish priest and through him, the friendship of Jesus Christ. John's life has meaning and hope.

Spiritual counseling is a human need; it always leads to Christ.

Priests and religious listen, guide and encourage, until we discover Christ.

They find joy in this role of caring.

Do you care enough to help others find Christ?

You have a vocation to consider a vocation!
