St. Patrick's Notes 100th Anniversary

Savannah — Parishioners at St. Patrick's celebrated the 100th anniversary of their parish with an anniversary Mass celebrated by Bishop Joseph E. Hogan on Sunday, March 21.

Bishop Hogan, in his homily, reiterated the quote, "A day of celebration is a summary of days and weeks and years that have preceded it," and spoke of the inheritance of faith which sustains the parish. He spoke of the time for personal renewal and recalled the sacrifices which brought the parish to this day. Bishop Hogan called the parish community gathered around the altar drawing strength of renewal, to accept the challenge to go out and proclaim the mystery of faith, fulfilling the calling of Baptism and Confirmation to be a witness among God's people.

A letter of congratulations was read from President Ford and an announcement made of the Papal blessing bestowed on the congregation.

Hafner, associate pastor, were former pastor Father Paul J. Cuddy. Also present were former associates, Fathers Francis H. Turner, Eugene H. McFarland, Henry F. Adamski, Joseph Gaylor, and Robert Egan, Fathers Michael Conboy, Richard Orlando and Alfred Horr were also present.

A reception and dinner followed the Mass in the church social hall. The "Revolutionary Singers" provided inspirational music as a tribute in the bicentennial year.
