What in your opinion are the most important traits a teacher should have?

CARDINAL MOONEY

Lorraine Lamendola, sophomore

"They should be able to talk to the students as if they were in the same age group. They should be able to control their classes by being firm yet not being mean. They should be able to teach by relating personal stories involving the subject."

David Peffine, sophomore

"Most important is an open-mindedness. They should try to understand how their students feel and what they generally think but they don't have to agree. They should be patient and willing to answer any questions."

Rick Lanpher, senior, basketball

"I would say experience. First your teachers learn more from the students. Every year they teach they learn something which helps them in dealing with students. A teacher should also be a person who doesn't form opinions before he asks ours. He should also be a person who is open to the students views and who is willing to change his views if he agrees with the students."

Matt Koerner, senior, track

"I feel they should be open with the students and be a little more personal with the kids rather than just know the students by numbers. They should be able to take criticism. If a student has problems the teacher should allow the time to listen to him and try to help him."

Todd Delgatti, senior, basketball

Teachers should know their courses thoroughly so when a student asks a question they can give a direct answer. They should have patience. Also, they should try to bring out the quiet student and make him feel a part of the class."

Paul Mercier, senior, CYO basketball

"A good teacher is one who can control his class without depending on threats like detention. He should be someone who can understand students and to know what it's like to be in high school."

Gary Rabideau, sophomore, basketball

"A tolerance between students and the teacher. Teachers should have an understanding of what students go through. They have to be aware of modern times and have the ability to communicate so they get their point across."

Sue Nelson, sophomore

"I think they should be understanding and put themselves in our position. They should have a sense of humor but also be firm with the students but not in a nasty way."

Winner's Circle

RapAround weekly will run a photo of a group of students taken somewhere in the diocese. One person will be circled and if that person brings the clipping to the Courier-Journal before noon of the Tuesday following publication date, he or she will receive $5. This week's photo was taken at Cardinal Mooney during lunchtime. The person circled above should bring the clipping to Joan M. Smith, Courier-Journal, by noon, Tuesday, June 15 to receive $5.

Child Care

St. Agnes students Laurie Kunkle and Eileen Root are learning the behaviour of children. Recently, the students in Child Development classes brought young brothers, sisters and friends to school for a day. The children spent the time monitored by students who observed their individuality and noted behaviour patterns.

Student Elections At Nazareth

Nazareth Academy's Student Council officers for 1976-77 elected last week are: President, Peg Lober; Vice-President, Margaret Camelio; Secretary, Raffaella Corbosiero and Treasurer, Sue Johnston.

Candidates conducted an election campaign and delivered a campaign speech to the student body. The girls registered to vote and used an actual voting booth to record their choices.

The officers-elect were honored at a reception after school May 21. They will be formally invested at the School Awards Assembly on June 9 and will then join the entire Student Council for a picnic in Seneca Park after school that day.
