

Son of Eastern Priest Ordained Bishop

Scranton, Pa. (RNS) — Bishop Thomas V. Dolinay, a leading Eastern Rite Catholic journalist and the first son of a U.S. Byzantine Rite priest to be named a bishop in this country, was raised to the episcopate in ceremonies at St. Peter's Cathedral here.

The former pastor of St. John Baptist parish, Bridgeport, Conn., becomes the first auxiliary for the Passaic (N.J.) Byzantine diocese, headed by Bishop Michael Dudick. He will serve the eastern Pennsylvania area of the 16-state diocese in the Eastern U.S. and will be headquartered at St. Mary's parish, Wilkes-Barre.

Archbishop Stephen J. Kocisko of the Munhall (Pittsburgh) archdiocese, was the principal concelebrant and consecrator at the Nov. 23 ordination ceremonies. Co-consecrators were Bishop Dudick and Bishop Emil Mihalik of the Ruthenian Rite diocese of Parma, Ohio. Archbishop Jean Jadot, Apostolic Delegate in the U.S., presided.

Concelebrants at the liturgy included Auxiliary Bishop Michael Rusnak of the Ukrainian Rite Diocese of Toronto, and Auxiliary Bishop John Bilock of Munhall. In all, 27 archbishops and bishops of the Roman and Eastern Catholic rites, and two abbots took part.

A native of Uniontown, Pa., Bishop Dolinay is the son of the late Father Julius and Mrs. Yolanda (Dobra) Dolinay and the heir to about 150 years of priestly tradition in both his father's and mother's family.

Ordination of married men to the priesthood for Byzantine Catholics was permitted in this country until 1929.

Raised by a priest-uncle, Father Peter Dolinay, when his father died at an early age, he studied at Benedictine College and St. Procopius Seminary, Lisle, Ill., and was ordained in 1948 in Uniontown, where his father had been pastor. He served in several Pennsylvania parishes.

Founding editor of the Eastern Catholic Light, Passaic diocesan newspaper, Bishop Dolinay began his career as editor of Prosvita-Enlightenment, a monthly for a fraternal society of Byzantine Catholics in the U.S. He was instrumental in founding the Byzantine Catholic World, newspaper to the Munhall archdiocese in Pittsburgh.

Upon learning of his appointment as bishop by Pope Paul, Bishop Dolinay said that after 28 years as a parish priest and editor "I am in a good position to know the needs and aspirations of our Byzantine Rite Catholics in America."
